DRY LAW UP TO STATES, SAYS COOLIDGE

Today

A Good King
Congress Comes Back
New York to Peking
Young Men, Old Women

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

KING GEORGE has been a faithful friend and servant of the British people and their empire, obedient to the people's will, loyal to the national spirit.

The sympathy of the world is with his family, and especially with Queen Mary, who has set an admirable example before the women of the world.

The lame duck session of Congress is at work. Farmers need relief, the Kellogg Peace agreement awaits decision, cruisers, recommended by President Coolidge, need appropriations.

And the country needs airplanes and submarines.

We talk about them, other nations build them, including Japan. Gen. Mitchell, dropped from the army because he took national defense too seriously, praises the wisdom of Japanese preparations.

Latest news concerning them tells of enormous submarines up to 4500 tons, and of effective cooperation between Japan's submarines and airplanes.

Japanese fliers land on the ice, off the Kuril Islands, south of Kamchatka, submarines come up, through holes in the ice, and supply the fliers with oil, gas, provisions and repair parts, as needed.

That is a system hard to break down.

A commercial air route promising greatest success, according to Gen. Mitchell, would run from New York to Peking. That should interest the Boeing Airplane Co. of Seattle, and C. E. Mitchell, of New York's National City Bank, who has "bought into" Boeing with some of his friends.

Interest saved on commercial paper, carrying it from New York to Peking in [illegible] hours, instead of four weeks, would suffice to make the road pay. And the planes would make money, carrying the most expensive furs. A fine sable skin weighs only one ounce, and is worth four or five times as much as an ounce of gold.

A Massachusetts woman, aged 51, formerly assistant pastor of a First Christian Church, marries her 21-year-old Sunday school pupil, and the world criticises.

The boy's mother says, "I am sorry for him." The bride's 30-year-old son says, "Mother must have been crazy."

Plato, wise philosopher, would not criticize the couple.

More than 2000 years ago, he said that older women should keep very young men out of mischief.

He said, also, that men should become fathers in middle life when they have intelligence developed.

If more young men married old women, waited respectfully and faithfully, until they died, then married wisely some one younger, the race might improve. However, that will not happen, often.

Washington rumor suggests that Mrs. Raymond Robbins will be appointed Secretary of Labor in Mr. Hoover's cabinet.

No better choice could be made, should Mr. Hoover decide to give one seat in the cabinet to a representive of one-half the population, the half that was largely responsible for the gigantic Republican vote.

Mrs. Robbins, who was Margaret Dreier, comes of a family devoted to intelligent public service. She knows working conditions among men and women, and has worked incessantly to better them. And this she has done, unselfishly, being a woman of wealth.

A shiver ran through Wall St. yesterday, with call money at 10 per cent and stocks dropping. Big powers in finance, including the Federal Reserve, are firm in their profitable conviction that the way to help the public is to practice usury, to the limit. That is good for bank stocks, temporarily, but may not be good for banking, or anything else, in the long run.

After a while the financial chill passed and some stocks climbed to "new highs." Bears came out of their gloomy caves and licked their lips. Their feast is not yet ready, however.

There is so much money, and the Hoover boom should normally run along, at least until after the Hoover inauguration. That would be only common politeness.

'I KILLED 5,' SAYS SLAYER

Riverside, Cal., Dec. 4—Following a dramatic recital of brutality that rivals anything in fiction, Gordon Stewart Northcott stood out as the most astounding criminal in the history of Southern California.

As calmly as he would narrate a trip to town, the young rancher confessed to officers that nine youths were slain at his Wineville chicken ranch, and that he himself killed five of them.

At the Wineville "murder farm," today, he led a party of officers in the Mojave Desert in search of graves which may possibly contain the bodies of all or some of the murdered lads.

The amazing confession was made 9 miles northeast of San Bernardino. Northcott refused to state who killed the other four boys. He asked that the officers stop the car.

"There is no use for me to go any further before I tell all. I killed

NEW FEAR FELT FOR MONARCH

London, Dec. 4—King George was still in a serious condition today as five doctors joined in the grim fight being made to save the monarch's life.

Despite two bulletins issued during the day saying the king was maintaining a "slight improvement" great anxiety over his condition was felt on all sides.

The day's latest bulletin—issued at 3:30 p. m.—read:

"His Majesty passed a quiet morning though the temperature is now 100.2. The slight improvement in general condition noted in the last bulletin is maintained."

The bulletin was the first to be signed by all five physicians who have now been called in to attend the king. These doctors are Sir Stanley Hewett, Dr. L. E. H. Whitby, Sir E. Farquhar Buzzard, Sir Humphrey Rolleston and Lord Dawson of Penn.

The bulletin was issued after the five doctors had been in consultation

STOCKS GO SOARING AS BULLS TAKE CONTROL

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—Disregarding the record-breaking increase of $511,932,202 in Stock Exchange member loans to a new high total of $6,391,644,264, the stock market today resumed the upward movement which had been interrupted by two days of heavy profit-taking.

Gains of $1 to nearly $11 a share were distributed over a wide assortment of issues, with several blocks of 5000 to 20,000 shares changing hand in the early trading.

Operators for the rise, evidently prepared for some liquidation by frightened investors and traders, threw in large buying orders at the opening, givng initial quotations a firm tone.

This helped to revive bullish confidence and check short selling, with the result that the "bull" movement was again in full swing before the end of the first hour.

Radio Corporaton common quickly ran up $10.75 a share, Wright Aeronautical climbed $6.50 and Mathieson Alkali, International Telephone, Allis Chalmers, Midland Steel Products preferred, Archer Daniels, Midland, Greene Cananea Copper and National Biscuit recorded early gains of $4 to $6 a share.

EX-TAX COLLECTOR OF WESTPORT NOT GUILTY

New Bedford, Dec. 4—Charles H. Gifford, former treasurer and tax collector of the town of Westport was, by a sealed jury verdict opened this morning, found not guilty of the larceny of $43,000 of town funds.

The jury came to an agreement late last night after nine hours of deliberation. The verdict was read in court this morning before Judge Harold P. Williams.

Gifford was in court to hear the outcome of the trial, but he made no comment upon his victory. There was no demonstration.

Gifford's criminal court troubles are by no means over, as there are two other indictments outstanding against him, charging him with obtaining money from banks on false credit vouchers. He is under bail of $5000. It is expected his next trial will be held in February.

DAZED AFTER 4-DAY ROVING

Crimmins questioned the girl and she readily admitted her identity.

Taken to the office of Chief H. O Moxhan of the B. & M. police, Miss Jones declared she had no memory of where she had been since last Friday afternoon when she vanished while on her way from Everett to the home of her grandparents in Winthrop.

After being questioned by the Boston & Maine police and by Boston police of the Hanover st. station, the girl changed her original story but in only one or two minor details.

Her parents expressed belief, following these quizzings, that Mildred had been drugged and held captive until newspaper publicity frightened her captors into turning her loose.

She recalled, she said, only that she had been in a number of buildings, sitting and standing—and just waiting, for hours at a time. She

FRANCE REFUSES TO SEND BLACKMER BACK

Paris, Dec. 4 (AP)—France today officially refused the request of the United States for extradition of H. M. Blackmer, missing oil case witness.

The extradition had been asked on the strength of an indictment returned in Denver which accused Mr. Blackmer of making false income tax returns.

RECOGNIZES CITIZENS' RIGHT TO OBJECT; ASKS FARM RELIEF, BIG NAVY

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Coolidge had [illegible] final say to Congress today on the state of the Union, [illegible] crowded into his annual message recommendations [illegible] and new problems.

[illegible] with a plea to the people [illegible] that in times of prosperity [illegible] to keep what has been [illegible].

The President sent his message to the Senate and House by messenger, foregoing the opportunity to deliver it in person. He urged farm relief and increase of the Nation's naval strength, and put dry law enforcement up to the States as well as the Nation.

He reiterated his belief that the Government should refrain from entering the field of private electrical power enterprise in connection with Muscle Shoals and the proposed dam on the Colorado river, saying such enterprises should be left to private interests.

Like the President, the Congress which received the message will go out of office within the next few months. And even as his message was read, consideration of a special session was on among party leaders.

The President recommended particularly that the $274,000,000 naval construction bill be passed, and called for a measure creating a federal farm board with a revolving fund provided by the Government to assist co-operative farm organizations in marketing surplus crops.

"Temporary expediencies," he said, "though sometimes capable of appeasing demands of the moment, cannot permanently solve the surplus problem and might seriously aggravate it. Hence putting the government directly into business, subsidies and price fixing, and the alluring promises of political [illegible] as a substitute for private [illegible] should be avoided."

FOR 15 CRUISERS

Following the lines of his [illegible] Day speech, the President [illegible] sage repeated his desire [illegible] of the fifteen cruiser bill now [illegible] ing in the Senate.

"The bill before the Senate [illegible] the elimination of the [illegible] should be passed," he said, [illegible] to the section which provides [illegible] the ships must be laid down [illegible] three years.

"I wish to repeat again for the benefit of the timid and the suspicious," said the President, "that this country is neither militaristic nor imperialistic.

"Many people at home and abroad, who constantly make this charge, are the same ones who are even more solicitous to have us extend assistance to foreign countries. When such assistance is granted, the inevitable result is that we have foreign interests.

"For us to refuse the customary support and protection of such [illegible]

BOY FLIER HOPS ON PRIZE FLIGHT

Columbus, Dec. 4 (INS)—Undismayed by negative weather reports, which promised him nothing favorable beyond a tail-wind, Richard E. James, 17, determined contestant for the $1000 aerial award prize, took off "into the wind" at 12:45 p. m. and headed his biplane, "Spirit of American Youth," toward Bellefonte, Pa. LONG Wharf looked like a narrow watery village carelessly planked, with crowded shops and stalls, hackney carriages driving at full tilt, sailors clambering from boatstairs, men hastening up and down the steep street which led into the city. All San Francisco seemed linked to the bay. Cargoes of teas, silks, shawls, were being lightered into the rear of warehouses on a lower street. Ships beached and embedded on made ground along the curve of shore had been turned into shops and houses, as if rosy old sea-captains should put on tile hats and nigh stock collars, and sit down, jingling their compasses.

Everything was movement, to and from the wharves, up and down the streets, with furious winds blowing through gaps between the hills carrying clouds of sand. The fate which had burned the city half a dozen times in rapid succession and had impelled its rebuilding while the old ashes were still hot seemed to stir like a tangible thing within its scattered boundaries.

Far up the irregular channels of the street little frame houses might be seen, with scallops of wooden trimming like coarse lace along their eaves, which all but waved in the wind. Iron houses perched on sandy slopes. Many-colored tents still flapped above the town.

Into the dense and jostling crowd of the wharf Mrs. Crabtree [illegible] in vain. Crabtree was not in sight. She was met by [illegible] with whom she was to stay for a brief time, and learned that her husband had last been seen in a [illegible]

KING'S HEART FALTERS AS CRISIS IN ILLNESS DRAWS NEAR

MAN SHOT, YOUTH IS HELD

Salem, N. H., Dec. 4—While Charles Palmer, well-to-do farmer, lay at Lawrence General Hospital today, with only a slim chance of living, Ruel Bretemps, 18, who is accused of shooting him, was grilled for hours regarding other holdups, although only the shooting charge was placed against him.

Bretemps, who, according to the police, admits the shooting, is said to have worn a silk handkerchief mask similar to that worn by a youth who has preyed on "petters" during the past four weeks in the general vicinity of Lawrence, Mass.

The boy, whose family formerly lived next door to Palmer, said he has been living on Dover st., Boston. He was discovered and arrested by a searching party near the Methuen line after Palmer, who retained consciousness, had named his alleged assailant.

The farmer became weaker during the night and surgeons said they did not dare probe for the two bullets which lodged in his body, one on each side of the heart.

Palmer told the local police he was sitting in his kitchen about 8 o'clock when a man entered by the rear door, wearing a heavy overcoat and with a handkerchief over his nose and mouth. He took a pistol from his pocket, Palmer said, and ordered the farmer to throw up his hands.

Palmer said he recognized the youth at once, and instead of complying, grabbed the intruder. Bretemps shot him in the chest, but Palmer continued grappling. The boy broke away, and as he reached the doorway, according to Palmer, he turned and fired a second shot, that also taking effect. When asked by the police why he fired the second shot, Bretemps answered, according to the officers, that he thought Palmer might be armed and feared he would shoot him as he was running away.

The wounded man made his way with great difficulty down the road nearly 300 yards to the home of Patrolman Clarence Wadlin, who summoned Dr. Lewis F. Soule. Palmer told his story and after first aid treatment was taken to the hospital.

Bretemps was unarmed when arrested and the officers began a search for the pistol in the vicinity of the Palmer home.

DEL RIO, EX-HUSBAND OF DELORES, DYING

Berlin, Dec. 4 (Universal Service Special Wireless) — Jaime Del Rio, handsome young Mexican atristocrat husband of Dolores Del Rio, movie star, is dying in a Berlin sanatorium. Doctors gave up hope of saving his life following complications resulting from an operation on a boil.

The Mexican, who has been living apart from his wife for many months and who bitterly denounced the movie career which took Dolores away from him, is repeatedly moaning to friends at his bedside—"How is Dolores? All I wait to hear is about her."

PLAN TO DOUBLE PAY OF STATE ACCIDENT BOARD

The salaries of the seven commissioners of the State Industrial Accident Board will be practically doubled and the members apointed for life if a bill filed today by Representative Alfred W. Ingalls of Lynn, on petition of Attorney Samuel B. Horovitz of the Boston Legal Aid Society is enacted into law.

The commissioners are now appointed for five-year terms. The chairman gets $5500 and the other commissioners $5000. Attorney Horvitz's bill would give the chairman $10,500 and balance of the commissioners $10,000.

CLUE TO BOY SLAYERS AT BOYLSTON CAMP

Worcester, Dec. 4—State police, believing they have at last found the trail of two boys suspected of slaying Cosimo Milyaro in his store at Clinton last Saturday night, visited a camp at Rocky Pond, Boylston, today.

The trip followed information supplied by Henry C. Foster of Lakewood st., this city, who said when he went to his camp last night he saw two boys runing away. He found they had evidently lived in the place for a night or two.

WOMAN INDICTED IN AIDING SING SING PRISON BREAK

White Plains, N. Y., Dec. 4 (INS)—For the first time in 100 years, a woman was indicted in Westchester county today on charges of assisting a Sing Sing prisoner to escape.

She is Mrs. Carrie Schrader of the Bronx, wife of a plumber employed at the prison. The indictment alleges she aided George Godick, a trusty, to escape three weeks ago. She will be tried Dec. 12. Godick, captured 10 days ago, also will face trial.

PARIS COUPLE IN 20 MILLION SWINDLE

Paris, Dec. 4 (AP)—Mme. Marthe Hanau, 42, and her former husband, Lazare Block, were arrested today and taken before an examining magistrate on charges of swindling investors of sums reported to total nearly 500,000,000 francs ($20,000,000). Most of the victims are said to be small investors.

Word that warrants had been issued for the arrest of the couple brought a large crowd to the front of the building occupied by the newspaper Gazette du France, which Mme. Hanau founded and managed. The police, however, had little difficulty in dispersing the crowd.

Mme. Hanau was described by newspapers today as a woman of remarkable intelligence and activity who boasted of her "American business methods."

She was charged with having used the newspaper to further the operations of her financial organizations which had 400 branches throughout France. She also conducted an advertising agency.

Until a few years ago she was a traveling saleswoman and her husband a salesman.

LOST GIRL IS 'IN A BLANK'

believed she had been sitting on Boston Common and had been back at the North Station at least once, but she had no memory, she said, of eating or sleeping since she left her cousin's home in Everett.

Despite continued questioning, this was the only story she said she could give.

STILL HAD DOLLAR LEFT

Miss Jones said she remembers taking a trolley from Everett to the Everett terminal and riding on an Elevated train from there to Rowe's wharf.

She had $1.20 when she left Everett and when found still had $1. From Rowe's wharf, she said, she does not remember where she went.

This morning she found herself in the North Station, and it came to her to telephone her parents at the home of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. S. S. Close, Circuit rd., Winthrop.

Over the telephone she told her mother to come to the North Station and the parents started immediately.

From Chief Moxhan's office the girl was taken by her parents to the Hanover st. police station, where Capt. Ambrose McConnell wished to question her relative to certain information turned in by his officers assigned to search the North End for her.

At the Hanover st. station, Capt. McConnell quizzed Mildred at length, especially on the fact htat she was wearing stockings other than those she had when she left her grandmother's home in Winthrop to go to Everett.

Capt. McConnell endeavored to learn also why, when it had rained heavily through Friday night and through last night, the girl's black suede shoes were immaculate and showed no signs of having been out on wet pavements.

Mildred could remember nothing, she said. She did change her story to admit that she had had supper Friday night in a North End restaurant, for which she paid 60 cents.

Autos Killed 73 Every Day in October

Chicago, Dec. 4 (AP)—Automobiles killed 2,200 persons in the United States in October, an average of 73 daily, compared with 91 daily in October, 1927, the National Safety Council announced today.

There was a big advance in urban deaths, but this was offset by a decline in fatal accidents in the country districts. Up to November 1, automobile victims numbered 20,500 persons, just 200 fewer than for the first 10 months of 1927.

New Telephone Work To Cost $1,784,000

At its monthly appropriation meeting today the executive committee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. authorized the expenditure of $1,784,046 for new construction and improvements. Including this authorization, the total commitment of the company for plant expenditures this year is $23,403,833. Of the amount authorized today $876,877 is the estimated cost of routine additions to plant in all parts of the company's territory during December.

Rescue 12 of Crew Off Sinking Liner

St. Pierre, Miquelon, Dec. 4 (AP)—Twelve members of the crew of the French steamer Senef, which reported last night that she was sinking 90 miles south of here, were taken from the ship by the steamer Watuka today.

Radio advices indicated the ship was in no immediate danger and that the four members of the crew, including the captain, would remain on board awaiting arrival of a tug from St. Pierre. The Watuka advised she was proceeding to Sydney, N. S.

CHAMBERLAIN'S RHINELAND TALK UPSETS GERMANY

Berlin, Dec. 4 (AP)—Political circles in Berlin appear upset by a statement in the House of Commons yesterday by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, on Rhineland occupation and reparations.

Sir Austen was quoted as saying that there was no legal justification for the contention that Germany had so complied with all the obligations imposed by the treaty of Versailles as to entitle her to demand withdrawal of the occupying troops before the expiration of the period laid down in the treaty.

This statement is construed to mean that Germany can demand fulfilment of Article 431 only when she has entirely carried out her reparations obligations, and is declared to prejudice the present international situation.

SERBS KILL 17 ALBANIAN BRIGANDS IN BATTLE

Belgrade, Dec. 4 (AP)—Two bands of armed Albanians were repulsed when they crossed into Jugoslavian territory in the Prizrend district today. The Serbian gendarmerie drove them back across the border. Two gendarmes were wounded.

One band was encountered near Suvareka. It lost seven killed. Ten were killed in the other band in the neighborhood of Cernova. Both bands were commanded by Feriz Zalkovitch, a notorious brigand.

LINDY EXPECTED FOR HUNT AS GUEST OF GOV. BYRD

Richmond, Va., Dec. 4 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh is expected here Saturday with a hunting party to stay several days. In the party, which is expected to fly here in the aviator's plane, will be Harry Guggenheim of the Guggenheim Foundation for the promotion of aeronautics. It is understood Lindbergh will be the guest of Governor Byrd.

Boy, 4, Crosses Sea Alone

New York, Dec. 4 (INS)—A four-year-old boy, Jasoni Pancerow, arrived here today unchaperoned from Russia to join his parents at Erie, Pa. He arrived on the S.S. Frederick VIII and was looked after during the voyage by the ship's officers.

KING'S ILLNESS HITS LONDON MERCHANTS

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—Although a fortnight ago shops, hotels and other large business houses could insure against an eventually in the case of the King at the comparatively low rate of 5 to 10 per cent, a prominent underwriter for Lloyds told the Associated Press today that the rate rose to 90 per cent and today such insurance is unprocurable.

This does not mean that the insurance companies think the "eventuality" must necessarily take place, but the fact is that the market is now full, and brokers are unwilling to take on more.

It was stated that widespread heavy insurance had been taken out "against national moruning," this being the euphemistic term used by the underwriters as a more gracious expression than "eventually."

Business is particularly great during the Christmas season and there is a noticeable slump in the shops already, particularly those selling women's gowns and hats. One large gown shop last week cancelled an order for 200 colored dresses. The millinery business also has been hard hit.

Hotels report a falling off in the completion of reservations for Christmas and New Year's parties and in the bookings of guests from the provinces who ordinarily would come to London.

The Lloyds informant said that the large department stores, theaters and restaurants were among the earliest to take out insurance.

New Archbishop Sees "Cause to Be Hopeful"

Canterbury, England, Dec. 4 (AP) The Archbishop of Canterbury, before beginning his sermon at the enthronement ceremonies today said:

"You will be thankful to know that last night the king had six hours of sleep and though anxiety is not yet removed, we have good cause to be hopeful."

Wales' Race to Bedside of King Stirs Britain

London, Dec. 4—While the ears of the empire were listening for word of the king's faltering heartbeat today, their eyes were fixed afar on the superb race of the king's boys, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Gloucester, who are racing against death to be at his bedside.

Along the eastern coast of the Dark Continent north of Dares-Salaam, the fast British warship Enterprise was ploughing toward the Suez Canal at full speed with his majesty's eldest son and heir aboard.

Although the prince is speeding home as rapidly as possible it probably will not be before December 12 or 13 that he will reach London.

In the meanwhile news of the King's grave illness was brought by runners to the Duke of Gloucester down in the Bangweulu swamps of northern Rhodesia, where he was hunting. It was typical that the dashing young duke should immediately make a break for rail communication by means of a canoe, which was the fastest transport available.

King George Reads All Bulletins on His Condition

London, Dec. 4 (AP)—King George, stricken at Buckingham Palace, is proving a good patient.

He is readily complying with doctors' orders and exercising such powers as his sickness allow toward advancing his recovery.

NEW FEAR FELT FOR RULER

at the royal palace. The physicians arrived at the palace about 3 p. m. They took less than 30 minutes to agree upon the condition of the king and the wording of the bulletin.

The real crisis in the king's illness is believed near. As it comes the physicians are concerned most over the monarch's heart.

A council of state was appointed today to carry on the duties of the crown during the rest of the king's illness. The Cabinet decided upon the appointment of this council when it was announced that the king was unable to sign state documents.

Ordinarily appointment of a council of state is made by proclamation, but this course was not followed today.

In addressing Commons, before the council was named, Premier Baldwin said:

"I am glad to say that King George was well enough this morning to permit a meeting of the privy council to be held."

The duration of the council is problematical, depending upon the future process of the monarch towards recovery.

The Premier said the council would comprise Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, the Archbishop of Canterbury, the lord chancellor and the Premier.

The day's first bulletin—issued at 10 a. m.—said:

"The King has passed a quieter night. Though anxiety concerning his heart must continue, the improvement noted last evening is so far satisfactorily maintained."

Everything would appear to center now in the question as to whether the King's heavily taxed heart would stand the strain imposed by a fortnight's grievous illness. It is understood that the present condition might continue for some time without a material change.

London medical experts were of the opinion that undoubtedly the administration of oxygen to the King was for the purpose of relieving the strain on his heart and that it need not be regarded as a sensational step.

A few years ago the use of oxygen was considered a last extremity. But it was explained that now it is used frequently as a precautionary assistance for the lungs, to make the work of the heart as easy as possible. It was acknowledged, however, that oxygen would not be used, except in very serious cases.

It was learned from an unofficial source that circles closest to the royal family were not greatly cheered by developments in the case during the past 24 hours.

One good sign today was that the band in the palace forecourt was allowed to play at the changing of the guard. It was silent yesterday.

Queen Mary has begun to show the strain of sleeplessness and anxiety.

PRINCE RACING HOME.

Queen Mary is keeping in wireless communication with her oldest son, the Prince of Wales, heir to the throne, who is en route home from East Africa upon the warship Enterprise. Admiralty officials said they expected the Enterprise to reach Suez on Friday night.

To make such progress up the African coast it was said the cruiser probably has been traveling about 29 knots. The Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George, will leave Buluwayo late this afternoon. Plans have been completed to convey him to Cape Town in time to catch the steamship Balmoral Castle, due to leave there Friday.

The Prince and the Duke were hunting in separate South African camps when they received word of their father's illness. They at once began their dramatic race back to London.

Early today a crowd of several thousands assembled outside the palace gates anxiously awaiting the day's first bulletin from the royal sickroom. When it was posted it was read in grave silence.

It was remarked by observers that the queen looked more cheerful than in the last few days, this being generally interpreted as an indication that she personally had been somewhat relieved regarding King George's condition.

Just before her departure from the palace there was quite a family gathering for luncheon. Viscount Lascelles, husband of Princess Mary, and the Duke and Duchess of York.

FILL GUESTS' BOOK.

So numerous have been callers at the palace during the past few days that a bulky visitors' book has been completely filled with the signatures of persons representative of all grades of British and foreign society.

Today a new book was requisitioned and already several pages have been filled.

The foggy weather which has settled over London with some prospect of continuing, may have some slight effect on the King's condition, it was said today.

Buckingham Palace is equipped with air purifying devices, but experts agree that it obviously would be better for His Majesty if the weather were generally clear and bracing.

JUDGE REFUSES TO HEAR DUNBAR DIVORCE CASE

PERSONAL REASONS PREVENT

Because of his social relations of long standing with the family, Judge Charles E. Harris today in Middlesex Probate Court refused to hear the case of Mrs. C. Bonney Dunbar, Newton society matron, and her estranged husband, Philip R. Dunbar, lawyer and clubman, for the custody of their eight-year-old son, Bruce L.

Judge Harris announced that Judge Colin Campbell of Barnstable would hear the case, and as he was engaged before the Supreme Court trial was delayed for about an hour.

Mrs. Dunbar was the daughter of the late Judge Charles S. Lilley of the Superior Court, a close friend of Judge Harris' for many years.

Recent revelation, following the filing of a petition for custody of the child by Mrs. Dunbar, that the couple had been estranged for more than two years, set the social world centering around Boston, agog with gossip.

The closest secrecy had been maintained in the separation and estrangement of the couple.

That the lawyer-husband intends to make strong contest was indicated by his following his wife's petition with a petition requesting personal custody with the firm of Stewart and Chase representing him.

SEPARATE PETITIONS

Both state in their separate petitions that the happiness and welfare of the child requires the custody of the petitioner.

Mrs. Dunbar asks in her petition that the court make proper order for the care, custody, education and maintenance of the child.

Atty. Harold Williams, Jr., represents Mrs. Dunbar.

Reasons for the estrangement of the couple, that continued in absolute secrecy for more than two years, during which time both kept their separation guarded from the closest friends and shunned the courts, are expected to be brought out.

Mrs. Dunbar has long held a high place in Boston social circles.

She was married to her husband at a brilliant wedding held at the former home of her parents at Fairmont st., Lowell, in 1917, the year she was awarded a degree from Wellesley College.

Characteristic poses of Lady Heath, who urges that the peril be taken out of flying and that more girls go in for aviation. She told, for the first time, of a $10,000 foundation to establish scholarships for girls whose circumstances do not permit that they bear the expense of learning to fly. She declared safety to be one of the chief needs of aviation today and urged that more care be used in teaching flying.

DAUGHTER OF DODGE AGAIN A BRIDE

New York, Dec. (AP)—4Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell, daughter of the late Horace Dodge, automobile manufacturer, was married to Raymond T. Baker, former director of the United States mint, at noon today at the Ambassador hotel.

The ceremony was performed in the apartments of the bride's mother, Mrs. Hugh Dillman, and was witnessed only by relatives and close friends.

Mrs. Cromwell formerly was the wife of James H. R. Cromwell, son of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia. They were divorced in September.

Mr. Baker's first marriage was to the former Margaret Emerson, daughter of Capt. Isaac Emerson of Baltimore. A Reno divorce ended this union recently. Mrs. Baker's first marriage to Dr. Smith Hollins McKim of Baltimore also ended in divorce. Her second husband, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, was a victim of the Lusitania disaster. After her divorce from Mr. Baker she was married to Charles Minot Amory of Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker will leave for Palm Beach tonight for a honeymoon of several weeks.

CANN HELD IN AUTO DEATH

Declaring his automobile was going only 15 miles an hour, Robert C. Cann, Boston restauratuer, living on Powderhouse boulevard, Somerville, pleaded not guilty in municipal court today to a charge of manslaughter in the death of Frank E. James, 72, retired broker, who was killed at Commonwealth ave. and Fairfield st.

Cann, who also pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating to endanger, was released without bail for a hearing on December 18. Prior to today's arraignment before Judge Carr, police obtained a warrant from Judge Duff.

Authorities are investigating two other accidents occurring yesterday in which Charles A. Garran, 73, of Malden was killed and John H. Whitcomb, 91, or Malden, seriously injured.

WOUNDED MAN HELD ON BREAKING CHARGE

Antonio Donofrio of Norfolk ave., Roxbury, just released from City Hospital, where he had been under treatment for a police bullet wound in the leg since his arrest on November 5, was arraigned in Roxbury court today on a charge of breaking and entering the Pilgrim Laundry. The charge was dismissed because he has been indicted by a grand jury and will be tried in Superior Court. Three other youths arrested with him are also to be tried in Superior Court.

Mad Suitor Blows Girl, Mother, Self to Bits

Regina, Sask., Dec. 4 (INS)—At Aneroid, a village near here, a madman today blew up two persons and himself with a charge of dynamite.

He was William Lequa, formerly of Lake City, Minn. Reaching out an arm as he struggled with his estranged fiancee and her mother as they sought to escape from the death trap, Lequa touched a lighted cigarette to a dynamite fuse and blew the trio into eternity.

Lequa's victims were Beatrice Barager, 20, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Goldie. He was a roomer in their home. Evidence indicated the double murder and suicide had been carefully planned and the death trap laid in Lequa's room.

The blast wrecked adjoining buildings.

TWO WIVES WIN FREEDOM IN PAUL TANGLE

The marital tangle in which three women were involved by Dwight C. Paul, 24, of Gloucester, serving two and one-half years for polygamy, was straightened out in Middlesex probate court today when wife No. 1 was granted a divorce, and the marrage of wife No. 3 was annulled.

No. 1 was Mrs. Agnes Jedrey Paul of Haverhill, married in 1925, who alleged that her husband deserted her less than three months later.

No. 2 was Mrs. Mary Compton Paul, 17, of Massachusetts ave., Cambridge, who was wed to the [illegible] quietly at Keene, N. H., last June, following a vacation romance.

Between these two marriages Judge Beane was told, Paul married Helen McLean, who is living in Springfield st., Somerville. Paul's downfall resulted from the efforts of James E. Compton, Boston real estate broker and father of Mrs. Paul No. 2.

'BOSSY' GILLIS GETS OUT AN EARLY VOTE

Adverse weather conditions kept the voting light in many of the 17 Massachusetts cities where balloting was in progress today, but in Newburyport, even though it is an "off year" politically, the fight being waged by Mayor Andrew J. ("Bossy") Gillis to elect a favorable set of ward councillors drew out a record early poll.

Considerable interest attaches to the New Bedford election because of the fact that Mayor Charles S. Ashley is seeking re-election for a [illegible] term.

A spirited contest is taking place in Quincy, where Charles A. [illegible] is running against Mayor Thomas J. McGrath.

In Lowell primary nominations for mayor and other city officials are being made on straight party tickets, for the first time since [illegible].

Other cities electing municipal officers are: Attleboro, Chicopee, Fall River, Fitchburg, Gardner, Gloucester, Haverhill, Holyoke, Leominster, Peabody, Pittsfield, Salem and Taunton.

"Bossy" Gillis was at work before daylight getting out the voters and he dashed by auto from precinct to precinct during the day.

"I admit I've got quite a battle on my hands but I don't think they can lick me," he said.

If Mayor Gillis can elect three ward councillors he will maintain his majority in the council, while his political opponents, who hope to blight his career by gaining control of that body, must elect four out of the six to be chosen.

"Bossy" has to elect all six, however, to be sure of having his views on city zoning upheld.

"I got the greatest reception any man in this country ever got coming out of jail, and if the people don't stick by me in this election I'll be missing my guess," he remarked.

As he toured the city he was constantly being greeted and he answered most of his well-wishers by name in thanking them. The vote in the first three hours was double that of any previous off-year vote, according to watchers at the polls.

Goes on Trial for Killing Hub Woman

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 4 (INS)—Selection of a jury to try Archie Moock for the hatchet murder of Mrs. Catherine Clark of Boston, is expected to be completed today.

Moock, posing as P. Murphy, is alleged to have lured Mrs. Clark to Spokane by promising to marry her and with aking $1,300 from her. The money was dug up in the backyard of the Moock home.

BREAKS NOSE OF POLICE MATE

A chase along Commonwealth ave. after an alleged bootlegger, which ended with the capture at gun point of James E. Rooney, 32, of West Webcowet rd., Arlington, resulted in a broken nose for Patrolman John F. Henrikus of the Newton Police department, who is also a captain in the National Guard.

Henrikus was a victim of overanxiety and poor timing on the part of a brother officer, it was brought out today when Rooney was arraigned in Newton court for illegal transportation and reckless driving. Rooney's case was continued to December 12.

According to the police, Patrolman Carley took a swing at Rooney, who ducked cleverly, and the policeman's large fist connected with his brother officer's nose, putting it out of commission for some time.

Sergt. Bannon, with Officers Chadwick, Carley and Henrikus were called to Priscilla rd., Newton, by a burglar scare. There seated in an automobile they saw Rooney, whom one of them recognized. Rooney put his car in motion and the police pursued him along Commonwealth ave. at top speed, finally capturing him at Lake st.

COOLIDGE DEMANDS GREATER NAVY AND FARM RELIEF FUNDS

MESSAGE RECOGNIZES RIGHT TO OBJECT TO DRY LAWS

"Our largest foreign interests are in the British Empire, France and Italy. Because we are constantly solicitous for those interests, I doubt if anyone would suppose that those countries feel we harbor toward them any militaristic or imperialistic design.

"As for the smaller countries, we certainly do not want any of them. We are more anxious than they are to have their sovereignty respected. Our entire influence is in behalf of their independence. Cuba stands as a witness to our adherence to this principle."

The President also reiterated his opposition to putting the government into the power or nitrate business in connection with legislation affecting the Colorado River or Muscle Shoals.

Of the Colorado River he said a summary of the report of a board appointed to study that project showed it preferred the Black Canyon site.

He added that he felt warranted "in recommending a measure which will protect the rights of the states, discharge the necessary government functions, and leave the electrical field to private enterprise."

In connection with Muscle Shoals, President Coolidge suggested a division of the property into "its two component parts of power and nitrate plants" by which it would be possible to "dispose of the power, reserving the right to any concern that wished to make nitrates to use any power that might be needed for that purpose."

He opposed building another dam at public expense, saying future operators should provide for that themselves.

"But if they were to be required to repay the cost of such dam, with the prevailing commercial rate of interest this difficulty would be considerably lessened," he said.

Reviewing the efforts of the administration to economize in public expenditures, the President declared that instead of a deficit of $94,000,000 which was expected last June for the current fiscal year, "the combination of economy and good times now indicates a surplus of about $37,000,000."

He said, however, that there would be no large enough surplus for further tax reduction.

The question of prohibition was disposed of by Mr. Coolidge in brief form:

"The country has duly adopted the eighteenth amendment," he said. "Those who object to it have the right to advocate its modification or repeal. Meanwhile it is binding upon the national and state governments and all our inhabitants."

As for enforcement he said the federal government "is doing" and will continue to do all it can in this direction," and declared that the officials in Washington were entitled to the cooperation of the states.

The flood control, irrigation and domestic water purposes of the Boulder Canyon Dam project are phases into which the government could extend its functions, he said.

Addressing himself to the wage earner, Mr. Coolidge enunciated the doctrine of production as the only limit to profit and wages.

"In its economic life," he said, "our country has rejected the long accepted law of a limitation of the wage fund, which led to pessimism and despair because it was the doctrine of perpetual poverty, and has substituted for it the American conception that the only limit to profits and wages is production, which is the doctrine of optimism and hope because it leads to prosperity."

"In the foreign field there is peace, the good will that comes from mutual understanding, and the knowledge that the problems which a short time ago appeared so ominous are yielding to the touch of manifest friendship," he said.

SHUNS WORLD COURT

The relations between the United States and Nicaragua, Chili, Peru, Mexico and China were dealt with separately by the President, who also, in his discussion of foreign affairs, praised the purport of the Kellogg treaty to outlaw war. There was no mention of American adherence to the World Court.

The message was concluded with a plea to the people to remember that in times of prosperity unremitting toil is necessary to keep what has been gained.

"The country," Mr. Coolidge said, "is in the midst of an era of prosperity more extensive and of peace more permanent than it has ever before experienced. But, having reached this position, we should not fail to comprehend that it can easily be lost. It needs more effort for its support than the less exalted places of the world. We shall not be permitted to take our ease, but shall continue to be required to spend our days in unremitting toil.

"The actions of the government must command the confidence of the country. Without this, our prosperity would be lost.. We must extend to other countries the largest measure of generosity, moderation and patience. In addition to dealing justly, we can well afford to walk humbly.

"The end of government is to keep open the opportunity for a more abundant life. Peace and prosperity are not finalities; they are only methods. It is too easy under their influence for a nation to become selfish and degenerate. This test has come to the United States.

"Our country has been provided with the resources with which it can enlarge its intellectual, moral and spiritual life. The issue is in the hands of the people. Our faith in man and God is the justification for the belief in our continuing success."

Enforcement Is Up to States, Says Coolidge

THE country has adopted the Eighteenth Amendment. Those who object to it have the right to advocate its modification or repeal. Meantime, it is binding upon the national and state governments and all our inhabitants.

The federal enforcement bureau is making every effort to prevent violations. It is bound to continue this policy.

Under the terms of the Constitution, the obligation is equally on the states to exercise the power which they have through the executive, legislative, judicial, and police branches of their governments in behalf of enforcement.

The federal government is doing and will continue to do all it can in this direction and is entitled to the active co-operation of the states.—President Coolidge in his message to Congress.

Army OK, but Navy Needs Cruisers, Says President

Our Army could not be much reduced, but does not need to be increased. Such new housing and repairs as are necessary are under way and the five-year program in aviation is being put into effect in both branches of our service.

Our Navy, according to generally accepted standards, is deficient in cruisers. We have 10 comparatively new vessels, 22 that are old, and eight to be built. We have no intention of competing with any other country. The building program is for necessary replacements and to meet our needs for defense.—From President Coolidge's Message.

Highlights in Address by President Coolidge

(By International News Service)

The country can regard the present with satisfaction and anticipate the future with optimism.

Wastefulness in public business and private enterprise has been displaced by constructive economy.

The national income has increased nearly 50 per cent. It is estimated to stand well over $90,000,000,000.

* * *

On the whole, the finances of the government are most satisfactory.

During the year we have signed 11 new arbitration treaties and 22 more are under negotiation.

Our relations with Mexico are on a more satisfactory basis than at any time since their revolution.

* * *

The anti-war treaty "promises more for the peace of the world than any other agreement ever negotiated among the nations."

Our navy is deficient in cruisers. The bill (15-cruiser bill) before the Senate should be passed.

This country is neither imperialistic nor militaristic.

The past year has been marked by notable, though not uniform, improvement in agriculture.

The government has been, and must continue to be, alive to the needs of agriculture. The surplus problem demands attention.

* * *

Putting the government directly into business, subsidies and price-fixing should be avoided.

We should lend our encouragement for more good roads to all principal points on this hemisphere south of the Rio Grande.

* * *

Until we can see our way out of the expense of the Mississippi floodway no further river and harbor legislation should be passed.

TARIFF CHANGE TO BE SLIGHT

Washington, Dec. 4 (INS)—Revision of the Fordney-McCumber tariff law, which will be undertaken by the new Republican Congress, may be limited in its scope to a comparatively few industries and schedules, Speaker Longworth said today.

"The present law has worked so well that a great many industries feel that they are now afforded the ample protection provided in the Republican tariff policy," he said.

"The onlyway in which the facts can be developed is through the holding of public hearings by the ways and means committee. The committee will be prepared to follow the lines of the Republican platform, which promised the adjustment of schedules which are not sufficient."

Hearings will begin on January 7.

AIMED TO LIFT NAVY TAX LOAD, SAYS BRITTEN

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—The reply of Premier Baldwin to the proposal of Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee for a parliamentary discussion of naval limitation was read to the committee today by Britten, who coupled it with a lengthy explanation of his purpose in suggesting the conference.

Mr. Britten, who received the "friendly" reply yesterday direct from the Premier, told his colleagues that he had not assumed any prerogatives of the executive department and that his motive was to "stop this everlasting talk of comparative naval strength, to say nothing of the expenditures of billions of dollars by both countries."

During the discussion the committee adopted a resolution by Representative Vinson (D.), Georgia, reiterating the committee's desire for the extension of the 5-5-3 ratio of the Washington arms treaty to all classes of warships.

Noting that Premier Baldwin had replied that his official position restricted his negotiations to heads of governments, Mr. Britten said he had addressed Baldwin not as Prime Minister, but as a member of Parliament.

The committee chairman expressed his belief that the correspondence had opened the door for another conference of representatives of Japan, Italy, France, England and the United States. The question now is, he said, "which of the executives of those five governments will assume the leadership while an expectant tax-burdened world stands by."

ANGRY ITALIANS SEND BACK FRENCH MEDALS

Rome, Dec. 4 (AP)—Indignation over the lenient verdict given in Paris to the assassin of Count de Nardini, Italian consul, continues throughout Italy. La Tribuna today reported five new cases in which Italian officers returned French wartime decorations.

The assassin was sentenced to two years in jail, but had already served 15 months of this while awaiting trial.

DELAY SURGERY UPON MISS BARRYMORE

Improvement in the condition of Miss Ethel Barrymore, noted actress, made it appear possibly today that she will be able to avoid a surgical operation.

Miss Barrymore, suffering from an ear abscess, was obliged to cancel last night's performance of "The Kingdom of God," in which she is starring at the Wilbur Theater. She was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital, where preparations were made for an operation early today.

This morning, however, Miss Barrymore's physician, Dr. Gerald Blake of Boston, declared that he was not sure surgery would be necessary. Massachusetts General Hospital authorities also felt that Miss Barrymore might recover without an operation. Her condition will be carefully watched for the next few hours.

E. W. Fuller, general manager of the Shubert interests here, said today that he hopes Miss Barrymore will be able to play her role tomorrow. He said her present illness has grown out of a bad cold which developed into laryngitis. She was sick during all the latter part of last week, he said, but insisted on remaining at her work. She has no understudy.

WOMAN 113 YEARS OLD DIES IN YORK STATE

Richfield Springs, N. Y., Dec 4 (AP)—Mrs. Delina Flikins, 113 years old, died at the home of her son here today. She was born in the town of Stark, Herkimer county, May 4, 1816.

Mrs Flikins, believed to have been the oldest woman in New York State, was born on a farm wrested from the wilderness during the days of the French and Indian War by her grand parents, who came from Holland.

HOOVER NEARS PERU; STUDIES AND RESTS

U. S. S. Maryland, Dec. 4 (AP)—The battleship Maryland was gliding gently over smooth waters off northern Peru today while President-elect Hoover rested and studied. Three hundred yards to starboard steamed the Almirante Grau, Peruvian navy flagship, escorting Mr. Hoover to Callao, to pay his second South American good-will visit tomorrow.

The mountains of Peru were dimly visible. Mr. Hoover began to study and analyse a great mass of printed matter prepared for him by Ecuadorian officials and given him in Guayaquil to supplement impressions gained from conversations with various officials.

SORTING TON OF GIFTS.

While the President-elect continued his studies the attaches were sorting gifts with which the Ecuadorian government had honored Mr. Hoover and his wife. About 30 bales, boxes, and packing cases were sent aboard the Maryland as well as numerous smaller packages. The gifts weighed in all more than a ton. They include works of art, examples of wood carving and weaving, and beautiful antique jewelry, among which is a pearl broock.

When the Peruvian flagship came alongside, she saluted Mr. Hoover with 21 guns. The escort was provided as a mission of United States naval officers is acting at the request of the government of Peru as advisory directors of naval affairs. The Maryland did not return the salute because the firing was considered a personal tribute to Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover was informed today that a message of friendship and welcome sent him by airplane from President Leguia of Peru, was the first so sent by any South American executive to any President of the United States or any President-elect.

AT CALLAO TOMORROW.

It was expected that the Maryland would arrive at Callao at 9 a. m. tomorrow and there Mr. Hoover will be greeted by the Peruvian foreign minister, personally representing President Leguia.

After receiving the freedom of the city from the Mayor of Callao, the Hoover party will motor 10 miles to Lima, the Peruvian capitol.

There they will greet members of the American colony at the United States embassy and go to the presidential palace to meet Senor Leguia.

There will be a luncheon at the American embassy for the President of Peru and in the evening a dinner for Mr. Hoover and his party at the presidential palace, followed by a reception and dance. Later, the Hoover party will return to the Maryland and continue the voyage southward.

MAN ATTACKED COLLAPSES

John B. Morrell, whose story of a beating inflicted on him by three men started an investigation by State detectives and Needham police, collapsed today and was placed under constant medical surveillance.

It was learned, also, that Otis Gilmore, father of Mrs. Hazel Williams, attractive widow, in whose Linden st., Needham, home Morrell lives, has suffered a nervous attack as a reaction over the affair.

Mrs. Williams refuses to leave her home without police protection.

The detectives still are endeavoring to learn the story of the attack and to trace down the attackers.

FIREMAN, OVERCOME, SAVED IN MEDFORD BLAZE

One fireman was overcome by smoke and rescued by two others in a stubborn fire at 77-77A Bow st., Medford. Private Clarence Shaw of Engine 1 was in the basement of the building with Lieut. Fred J. Marr and Private Francis Bye. Shaw collapsed and was carried out by the other two firemen.

The fire started when a spark from the furnace caught on a pile of kindling. Firemen were forced to wear gas masks to get at the blaze. Mrs. Delphine Allen was carried from her apartment on the second floor. Loss was about $2000.

VANDALS POUR WHITE LEAD OVER FAMOUS STATUE

Springfield, Dec. 4—Public indignation is running high here over the work of vandals, who poured white lead over the famous bronze statue of the Puritan, by Augustus St. Gaudens, in Merrick park, near the Public Library. The statue, considered by many as the sculptor's greatest work, was presented to the city as a memorial to Dea. Samuel Chapin, one of the founders of Springfield.

$35,000 IN GEMS TAKEN FROM STATEROOM

New York, Dec. 4—Mrs. Antonio de Planet, wife of an attache of the Chilean embassy in Washington, reported the loss of jewels valued at $35,000 from her stateroom on the South American Steamship Co.'s liner Teno when the ship docked.

Mrs. de Planet said that when she boarded the steamer she put the jewels in a bureau drawer. When she looked for them they were gone.

FREED ON RUM CHARGE TO TAKE NEW JOB

New York, Dec. 4—William J. Burke started back to his home at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., ready to go to work at his new civil service job.

He had stood before Federal Judge Burrows to receive sentence for operating a 100-gallon still. But the sentence was suspended when he explained that he had obtained the civil service job. Burke paid a $100 fine on a plea of guilty and was released.

SATURDAY IS MOST IMPORTANT ON CALENDAR, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

George Higginson, 2d, Weds Virginia Oakes on That Day in Emmanuel Church

AUTUMN MERGES GENTLY INTO WINTER, SO OVERLAID with orange blossom scent that a December Saturday might well belong to June. No single week but rises crescendo-like to the familiar Lohengr'n strain—preluded, of course, by a muted dance motif—as bride and bridegroom, ushers, honor matrons, best man and maids trip a merry measure. The wedding party for George Higginson, 2d, and his stunning bride-to-be, Miss Virginia Oakes, sets the gayest pace imaginable through the week, to diminuendo into the wedding march on Saturday at 4 in the afternoon.

THIS EVENING MR. HIGGINSON, in the time-honored way, bids farewell to his bachelor days via the ushers' dinner to 14 young men who wi'l do the honors at Emmanuel Church and at Southwood for the reception. At the same time Miss Oakes duplicates the dinner festivity, in the feminine manner, entertaining for her dozen attendants. Tomorrow Mrs. Hollis Hunnewell (Mary Francis Oakes) of Wellesley gives a bridesmaids' luncheon, and on the wedding eve, before the Phineas Shaw Sprague ball at the Hotel Somerset for Miss Sally Sprague, Mrs. Daniel Simonds, 2d, entertains the entire wedding party at a dinner in the Algonquin Club.

LIVELY GIRLS AND SMART young men make up a wedding entourage individually interesting and collectively impressive. Both bride and bridegroom have gathered a troupe from here and there to flit gaily through all the pre-nuptial festivity and then move, solemn-eyed, to the altar on Saturday. Mrs. Sidney Jones Colford, Jr. (Elizabeth Oakes), and Mrs. Hunnewell are honor matrons. The dozen maids include Miss Nancy Lasell of Whitinsville, Miss Margaret St. John of Greenwich, Miss Elizabeth Litchfield and Miss Sally Bacon of New York.

BOSTON PROVIDES SOME pretty girls to wear some particularly fetching frocks—Miss Isabel Shaw, Miss Eleanor Gibson, Miss Betty Soule, Miss Mary Hammond, Mrs. Simonds (Elizabeth Sprague) and Mrs. George Lyman, Jr., who was Eleanor Higginson and a sister to the bridegroom. That young man has Lawrence Coolidge for his best man, and for his usher troupe kinsmen and college classmates to the number of 14 They are Francis Lee Higginson, Jr.; Hugh Whitney, Hollis Hunnewell, Gordon Abbott, Geoffrey Gates, John W. Gates, Daniel Simonds, 2d; Clarence Whitman, 2d, and Thomas R. Morse, Jr.

ALSO GEORGE LYMAN, JR., George Sturgis, Ewing Reilley, Asaph Churchill, Harold Coolidge, Jr., and Rector Fox. Mr. Reilley hails from Los Angeles; the Messrs. Gates and Fox are Manhattanites, and otherwise the list smacks smartly of Boston's aristocratic clans, the friends and cousins in first and second degree who have grown up with the bridegroom. He is the son of Mrs. Francis Lee Higginson, and Mrs. Bernard Rogers of Chicago (Corinna Higginson) is a sister.

SATURDAY'S CEREMONIAL before the candle-lighted, lily-perfumed altar of Emmanuel will be the third this year marking the giving of an Oakes daughter in marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Francis James Oakes of "Southwood," in Brookline, first surrendered Miss Mary Frances Oakes into hymeneal bonds with Hollis Hunnewell, Jr. Next Miss Elisabeth Oakes became Mrs. Sidney Jones Colford, Jr., and now the Higginson clan is to be enriched by the acquisition of the handsome Miss Virginia Oakes as its newest ornament.

TEACUP TITTLE TATTLE has it that the bride and her troupe are to be most fetchingly arrayed for the nuptial hour. That Miss Oakes, who recently returned from Paris, shopped with rare taste and discrimination in that French city so strongly given over to sartorial glorification of the gentler sex. And these fetching things will all be on view Saturday, adorning the bride herself and her fourteen attendants. It's a foregone conclusion that Miss Oakes knows her way about the smart Paris establishments. The City on the Seine is a second home, perfectly familiar to her, her sisters and her parents.

THE OAKES FAMILY ALL have that habit amazing to the non-leisured, stay-at-home ones, of crossing the ocean with great frequency. It's only within the past few days that the bride-elect herself came back from a Paris visit of a few weeks. And crossing with her was her intended, Mr. Higginson, and Mr. and Mrs. Colford, Jr. The Colfords were just coming home from their European wedding journey, so there accompanied these four the echo of wedding bells and the promise of coming chimes. Mr. and Mrs. Colford will be house guests at Southwood until after the wedding, when they go on to their New York home.

A CHARMING "LION" is Lady Heath, who roars in delightful English intonation of her pet hobby, aviation, and is the latest imported attraction to do a good deed for a local charity. Her tan ensemble, when certain ones were asked to "meet" her ladyship at Mrs. Horace Morison's yesterday, was softly feminine to the last degree. This British birdwoman will flit about in the interests of the Christopher Shop and give the local philanthropic calendar a tinge of individuality. On Thursday, at the Hotel Statler, Christopher Shop adherents, and many another, will be on hand to hear her say more of this latest means of covering distance.

MRS. PHILIP KLEIN BROWN and Mrs. A. Bowen Fairfax did the tea table honors. Mrs. Morison in rose velvet and Mrs. Wilbur Grant in gray supplemented effectively her ladyship's lace and crepe costume in the receiving line. Miss Cornelia Otis Skinner, another lion just now in town, was smart and effective in tan. Mrs. Brown wore one of those turban-like hats that enfold the bobbed head so neatly, and Mrs. Grant, her mater, looked out on the passing show from beneath a feather turban, that becoming feminine headgear so very much up to the moment.

GEN. PRESTON BROWN and Mrs. Brown were guests for the tea interlude. Captain Anderson of Texas and Mrs. Anderson were in the tea sipping company. They are guests of President Stratton of M. I. T. Mrs. Ralph Doane was in black. Miss Elinor DeW. Jackson wore one of the raisen reds so popular this autumn. Mrs. Robert Treat Paine's black velvet, with ermine, was distinctly smart and took more than a small measure of beauty from strands of pearls about her throat. Miss Elizabeth Morison, debutante, let the light of her bright flambeau satin frock shine briefly on the tea company before she departed for a tea distinctly buddish.

MISS ELEANOR GIBSON MISS BETTY SOULE

Younger set members were greatly interested in these odd toys as the camera caught them. Next Saturday their interest centers about the Higginson-Oakes wedding when they serve as bridesmaids.

Hamilton

The Hamilton watch needs no introduction. The E. B. Horn Company, at 429 Washington Street, near Winter, advises the Hamilton for men. The most attractive model which they feature this season is a new thin watch 17-jewel, with a 14-karat gold-filled case, either green or white gold, with engraved border and beautifully finished dial. The price is $50. The Waldemar chain is a very suitable companion for the Hamilton watch, having most up-to-date designs and made in either the green or white gold. They can be bought for $5.00 up to $7.50. The great advantage of buying of the E. B. Horn Company is that they do business under their own name and have been successfully conducting the jewelry business right there at the same shop for over 50 years, and you feel perfectly sure that their assortment of watches, diamonds, chains, cuff links, stick pins, cigarette cases or lighters is of the very finest quality and latest designing.

ALL AUSTRIANS AGREE TO RE-ELECT HAINISCH

Vienna, Dec. 4 (AP)—All political parties reached an agreement today that Dr. Michael Hainisch should again be elected President. The veteran statesman will be unanimously elected for a third term tomorrow and the Constitution will be amended so as to authorize a third term in his case alone, all his successors being limited to the precent constitutional maximum of two years.

League Has "Crank File"

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 4—So many folks with fantastic ideas have been writing the League of Nations that it has found it necessary to establish a crank file. The contents are secret.

ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY INSTALLED

Canterbury, Eng., Dec. 4 (AP)—Dr. Cosmo Gordon Lang, 97th Archbishop of Canterbury and primate of the established church of England, today was enthroned in the marble chair of St. Augustine.

Because of the illness of King George, there was a possibility until the very last that the enthronement might be postponed, but it was carried out with restrained pomp.

The great assembly in the cathedral included Bishop Charles H. Brent of New York, representing the American church, and was eminently catholic in scope, as for the first time in the long history of Canterbury representatives of the free churches were invited to join in the prayers for the new head of the English church.

Representatives of non-conformist bodies in various European countries were also present.

Dr. Lang was placed first on the great archiepiscopal throne. Then he was led by the Dean of Canterbury to the marble chair of St. Augustine, where he was enthroned by the dean to signify his succession as the 97th archbishop.

The archbishop in his enthronement sermon said that as he looked upon the world he saw a field being everywhere cleared for one supreme conflict between spiritual religion and material civilization, which claimed to be self-sufficient. As that civilization advanced, ancient religions crumbled and fell.

"There is only one religion which can withstand—the gospel of the Son of Man," he continued. "Yet behold the plight of the church which carries this farther as it seeks the compact, self-confident and ever-advancing force of material civilization. Thank God, a strong desire for unity is moving through its broken ranks."

GRID SKYLARK VICTIM ON WAY TO RECOVERY

Brockton, Dec. 4—The condition of Jerome Darling, Boston University student whose spine was injured in a scrub football game, was so improved today that doctors say his recovery is entirely probable. His name is off the danger list.

Dr. L. B. Packard, the physician attending him, said that X-ray photographs show definite fracture of two vertebra, but declared that the spinal cord is not seriously injured.

LAWYER MUST PROSECUTE HIS ALLEGED ATTACKER

Although he had asked that his complaint against Ralph Gregg, accused of attempted extortion, be dismissed, Malcolm C. Sherman, an attorney, of 197 Longwood ave., Brookline, requested that the defendant be held in $3000 bonds after Judge Bennett in Central Municipal Court, held Gregg for the grand jury.

Sherman charged tnat Gregg had threatened to kill him in an attempt to extort $1000.

MARION DAVIES READY FOR HER MUSICAL FILM

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Charles King, Broadway stage favorite and baritone, has been chosen by Irving Thalberg to play the male lead in Marion Davies' next picture, "The Five O'Clock Girl." The selection of King is interesting inasmuch as there were dozens of young leading men up for the part but none of them possessed just the right quality of voice and just the right personality.

The responsibility of making the first musical comedy for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is considerable. Marion Davies with her usual thoroughness has prepared for her part. She has been taking singing lessons for some weeks. As a musical comedy stage favorite she comes into her own in her first talkie. She has a sweet, natural voice and her role will give her a chance, not only to sing but to do comedy dialogue as well.

Aileen Pringle, George K. Arthur and Polly Moran are the other members of the cast chosen. Alfred Green will direct and Harry Rapf, responsible for the purchase of the play, will supervise.

PATHE has had "Porgy," a negro play, for a considerable time. My advice to them if they want to get the most out of "Porgy" is to produce it quickly, for before they can possibly get "Porgy" on the market King Vidor will be out with "Hallelujah" and Fox will have "Hearts of Dixie." "Porgy" is a play which was highly successful in New York. As a film there is no reason it cannot repeat its popularity. Joseph Kennedy while here, talked over the production of "Porgy" and practically arranged to have E. H. Griffith direct it. Griffith and Phyllis Haver have been called back to make sound sequences for "The Shady Lady," Phyllis' latest picture.

IF Mack Sennett had been willing to sell his new studios at Studio City, which have not yet been occupied, he might have found a buyer in Harry Cohn. Columbia plans to make many talkies and since the present studio on Gower st. is inadequate, Cohn has been shopping for ground to build sound stages.

Ground in Hollywood has become so valuable that it is almost impossible to get studio ground within a reasonable distance and the Sennett studios, at first rumored for sale, are not now on the market.

Columbia has "The Donovan Affair" to make, which will probably be their most pretentious talkie up to date. Frank Capra has been put in charge of all the talkies for Columbia—that's some job these days.

NO wonder there was so much realism in Vilma Banky's acting in "Childs—Fifth Ave." She is playing a scene right out of her own life. Shortly before she married Rod La Rocque she took out her citizenship papers. Last week a duplicate scene was filmed with a replica of the very building where she applied to Uncle Sam for permission to become one of his real children.

CHRISTMAS AID ASKED BY BOY FOR FAMILY

If you were a boy compelled to leave school in the ninth grade—and if you made only $8 a week, but were the main support of your mother, a 12-year-old brother and a nine-year-old sister—would you believe in fair play and a Santa Claus.

Hardly! Unless at Christmas time some Goodfellow came along with a smile and a big heart and made things a bit lighter in the season that should be full of cheer but which, for some, is only too full of the darker thing.

Scores of appeals to the Goodfellows of Greater Boston are pouring to the Goodfellow Editor of the Boston Evening American. But if the experience of past years is duplicated this year, the Goodfellows will respond and no seeker for aid will be left out in the cold.

Here is a letter from a Chelsea boy—the one referred to above. Put yourself in his place.

FATHER DEAD

"Dear Goodfellow: My father is dead and mother is not well, so there is no one in the house to bring in food, so I had to leave school in the ninth grade and go to work.

"I make $8 a week and give Mom $7, so no one in the house is able to get clothes. I have a brother who is 12 years old and a sister who is nine and we would like some underwear and stockings, sizes 9 and 8½ and 8; underwear sizes, 14 years old and 9-year-old.

"I would also like a pair of rubber boots size 3½, as where I work in the fish place there is much water and I have no boots. If you could give me the boots, I would be very thankful."

And from a mother in Dorchester comes this letter:

"I am writing to you asking would you please try and help me for Xmas, as I am a widow with one little girl and have a crippled mother for 21 months and I have been out of work for some time.

"I am afraid that we will have a poor Christmas even for my little girl looking for Santa Claus.

"I wouldn't write to you if I was not in need, so please try and don't forget me for Christmas. My little girl needs so many things in clothing. I would appreciate most anything sent to us."

GOODFELLOW PLAN

It's easy to be a Goodfellow. This is the Goodfellow plan, one that is easy and simple:

Each year hundreds of letters are received by the Boston Evening American from fathers, mothers and children asking that the Christmas season be made happier for them by the help of Goodfellows.

If you want to be a Goodfellow for one or more families, write immediately to the Goodfellow Editor of the Botson Evening American and fill out the blanks published with this article. State, if you wish, the district of Boston, or any city, or the section of a town, in which you would like to be a Goodfellow.

The Goodfellow Editor will then send you the names and letters of the needy and you can have the hearty satisfaction of learning of what is needed, buying it yourself and delivering it, too.

Think of the joy of being a real Santa Claus yourself.

If you cannot give the time to the buying and delivering, the Goodfellow Editor will be glad to attend to it for you.

Just send him your ideas and your orders, your selection of special district for your case or cases, and he will carry out everything just as you wish and confidentially, too.

Write today to the Goodfellow Editor, Boston Evening American, Winthrop sq., Boston. Tell him what you wish to do, what size family or families you wish to provide for and he will forward one or more of the pathetic letters of appeal that he is receiving every day from those who deserve.

Be a Goodfellow.

ONCE JOB HUNTER, NOW ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Newark, N. J., Dec. 4 (AP)—Joseph C. Braelow is a firm believer in the principle that if you don't succeed try again. Once he got a city job after taking 15 civil service examinations. He passed them all, in fact was first eight times, but somebody else was appointed after the first 14 tests. Now he is buying a seat on the New York Stock Exchange.

Florence Reed Stops Mirth

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—Florence Reed was sleep-walking in the part of Lady MacBeth. She stepped out of character and up top the footlights and asked that two men who had been laughing get out. One did, but the other convinced ushers he did not regard "MacBeth" as ludicrous.

CONGRESS ROW ON REVISION OF DISTRICTS

Washington, Dec. 4 (Universal)—The battle to force the adoption of reapportionment legislation at the present short session of Congress was under way today.

With the backing of a large group of members committed to his program, Representative McLeod (R.) of Michigan, introduced a resolution to make reapportionment the first order of business when the House gets down to work probably tomorrow.

The adoption of McLeod's resolution automatically would keep the Fenn reapportionment bill before the House until it was disposed of.

Meanwhile Republican leaders of the House went forward with their intended program of passing two and perhaps three of the appropriation bills before the Christmas holidays. This would delay consideration of the Fenn bill until January.

Although committed to reapportionment, Republican Leader Tilson frowned upon McLeod's resolution to make reapportionment the first order of business. He expressed the view that such a course might lose votes for the measure when it finally reaches a vote.

Defending his resolution McLeod said:

"The reapportionment group is fully organized and stands ready to take any measures necessary to secure prompt action by Congress to pass a re-apportionment bill. We hope it will not be necessary to filibuster.

"We feel that the resolution which I have introduced will afford an orderly and effective means of carrying out the mandate of the constitution.

"But one thing we are resolved upon above everything else is that the inequality of representation which has been forced upon some States by the failure of Congress to reapportion during the last eight years must be brought to an end without further delay."

Ice Refrigeration —the ideal food saver

The woman who really wants to economize on her food budget keeps her refrigerator at least two-thirds full of ice at all times. She finds that milk, meats, fruits and vegetables remain fresh and sweet for days under the protection of pure, sparkling ICE.
Remember that the temperature of your kitchen is just about what it was last July. You need ice as urgently now as you did then.

King Boris to Marry Foreign Princess, Says Premier

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 4 (AP)—The newspaper Pravnitschnivesti today printed a letter signed by Premier Liaptcheff of Bulgaria, saying his government soon would be able to announce the engagement of King Boris to a foreign princess.

The name of the princess was not given, but it was assumed here that Princess Giovanni of Italy was referred to.

It is understood King Boris and the Premier are leaving for Italy after the 15th anniversary of Bulgaria's freedom has been celebrated.

FORCES BOYS TO PRAY, THEN KILLS 5

"I killed Walter Collins because I was afraid he would get away from me.

"You remember the altar you fellows found at my ranch—well I made each one of the boys I killed say their prayers before that altar just before I shot them to death with my .38 calibre automatic pistol.

"I kept Walter Collins' body in the house for three days. I just couldn't stand the thought of burying him. Finally, Sanford and I dug a grave and put the darling boy in it. I cried as we piled the dirt in on his body.

"Sanford and I both mistreated all the boys before they were killed. Sanford is a liar if he says he didn't.

"ALWAYS A MISFIT"

The Sanford mentioned in the confession is Sanford Clark, Northcott's 15-year-old nephew, whose weird story of mistreatment and murder of boys brought about his uncle's arrest in Canada and extradition to California.

"I have always been a misfit. Once a misfit, always a misfit. And I might say that my father got me off on the wrong foot when I was 11 years old.

"I am not saying who killed the other four boys at the ranch. I have taken all the blame that is mine. If anyone else wants to tell what they done out there, its up to them—I think I have 'come through as well as can be expected

"Sanford is so smart, so I will tell about his killing Nelson Winslow. He did it 'on his own', for he had mistreated the kid. And, he's a liar if he says he didn't.

BOY SEEMED DISTANCED

"I felt sorry for Nelson Winslow. After I killed Lewie, the little boy seemed so distressed. He cried often. It was so pitiful and I have such a sympathetic nature. The poor kid went around the ranch like he was going to 'croak.' I simply could not stand it.

"Then, one day, Sanford said he thought he had better kill Nelson because the kid was getting fretful. I certainly did not discourage him. Didn't help him, either. I did help Sanford bury him.

"Sanford is such a weakling that I had to carry the boy's shoulders. Sanford trailed along carrying the feet. Sanford is a pretty lucky kid—everyone believes him and he will probably go free.

"I suppose there is nothing more for the law to do with me and maybe I'll see Eddie Hickman pretty soon;"

Even at such a dramatic point in the wierd tale, Gordon Stewart Northcott, the super-killer, smiled.

BOYS IN HEAVEN

"I could not stand to see the boys killed without first being sure they had made their peace with God. That is why I built the altar.

"I wanted to be sure the little darlings would go to heaven. I am sure they did, for they were so sweet.

"Now, about the other four boys who were killed at the ranch—well, it might be that I can take you to where their remains are buried. I know I can, unless they have been moved.

"If you ever get certain members of my family to talk, you will hear one of the most weird tales you ever listened to. Believe me, officers, that chicken ranch was a regular butcher shop!

"I suppose you think I am crazy for telling all this, but you fellows have never been through the mental torture that follows deeds such as I have committed. It is a relief to tell everything you know.

HAD TO TELL

"For the past three weeks I have realized that I must tell my story or go mad. It wasn't so bad up there in Canada, but when I got back here near the scene of the crime, well I knew the minute the train entered California that it couldn't help it.

"Come on, let's get this darn car started. I am anxious to show you the bodies and Alvin's head. I hope we'll be able to find them, so you will believe me. I dislike for people to think me a prevaricator."

Casually, almost boastingly, Northcott told of the murders and the strange and incredible things that preceded them.

"Yes, I killed Walter Collins, he was a fine boy," he said reminiscently.

"I dressed him up in girl's clothes. I was proud of him. I took him to a lot of places and showed him people. They all thought he was a girl.

"I taught him to say his prayers and to kneel at the altar. I killed him because he came to know too much. But I did not torture him. I liked him too well for that. Why, I never tortured any of the boys."

ROMANO GIRL'S CASE DELAYED TO FRIDAY

Philomena Romano, held in $20,000 bail on a perjury charge in connection with Gangi Cero's court battle to escape the electric chair, was taken from Charles st. jail to municipal court today and arraigned before Judge Carr, but her case was continued until Friday. Cero's motion for a new trial comes up in superior court Thursday and the district attorney does not want to dispose of the East Boston girl's case until after the Cero hearing.

BOASTS OF KILLING FIVE

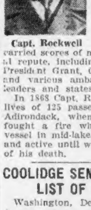
DEATH TAKES OLDEST SHIP CAPTAIN, 98

St. Albans, Vt., Dec. 4—Capt. Eli B. Rockwell, 98, the world's oldest steamboat captain, died at his home here. He had sailed Lake Champlain since the days of the war with Mexico.

Capt Rockwell was born on North Hero, one of Champlain's picturesque islands, Feb. 18, 1830. At 16 he shipped on the schooner Cynthia, our of St. John's, Quebec. At 17 he became master of his first vessel.



Capt. Rockwell

From 1852 until this year, including the summer season just passed, Capt Rockwell commanded Lake Champlain steamboats for the Champlain Transportation Co. As his passengers he had carried scores of men of international repute, including Gen. Sheridan, President Grant, Chief Justice Taft and various ambassadors, military leaders and statesmen.

In 1868 Capt. Rockwell saved the lives of 125 passengers on the old Adirondack, when he successfully fought a fire which menaced the vessel in mid-lake. He was strong and active until within a few weeks of his death.

COOLIDGE SENDS SENATE LIST OF NOMINATIONS

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—President Coolidge forwarded to the Senate today a long list of nominations for officers appointed during the Congressional recess, including that of J. Reuben Clark, Jr., of Utah, to be under secretary of state

Other nominations were: H. Theodore Tate of Tennessee, to be treasurer of the United States; John W. Pole of Ohio, to be comptroller of the currency; William S. Culbertson of Kansas, to be ambassador to Chile, and Sherman J. Lowell of New York, to be a member of the tariff commission for a term of 12 years.

CONGRESS MAY CURTAIL INFLUX FROM CANADA

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—The House immigration committee will take up tomorrow the proposal of Secretary of Labor Davis that Congress tighten the immigration laws with respect to persons crossing the Canadian border to work or search for employment in the United States.

Davis holds that recent court decisions placed too liberal a construction on the law by allowing two alien residents of Canada, one working in this country and returning to Canada each night, and the other seeking employment, to enter as visitors temporarily for business and therefore as non-quota immigrants.

PLUNGES TO DEATH IN OPENING WINDOW

New York, Dec. 4 (INS)—Richard Raney, of Westport, Conn. young Wall st. runner, who was killed in a fall from the sixth floor of the Paramount Hotel, early today, met death accidentally, according to a police report.

J. B. Crouch, companion of Raney, said he and Raney had met last night for the first time in years and had gone together to the hotel. Police decided Raney had fallen from the window after arising to open it.

BOSTON MAN NABBED IN LYNN AFTER A CRASH

Fred Bartlett, who gave an address on Beacon st., Boston, was arrested by the Lynn police today, after his automobile had been in a slight collision with another car on Western ave.

He was charged with drunkenness operating while under the influence of liquor, and going away from the scene of an accident without making himself known.

STAKEHOLDER IS SOUGHT IN MILLION BET

New York, Dec. 4 (INS)—When Arnold Rothstein, murdered gambler, died on election day, he had won $1,000,000 on bets on the election of Herbert Hoover, enough to pay the $300,000 I O U for which he was slain, and a series of gambling debts contracted over a two-year period of "bad business."

This was learned today by authorities as the grand jury, concluding its investigation into the Rothstein assissination, prepared to find three indictments.

Following the cut of their leader, members of the Rothstein gambling clique backed Hoover heavily. Some of the Rothstein crowd even visited national Democratic headquarters on election night and placed Hoover bets over the telephone, it was learned.

Attorneys for the Rothstein estate were trying to find the stakeholders of the $1,000,000 in election bets.

Counsel for relatives of Rothstein and for the executors admitted a proposal for a settlement of his death-bed will contest had been made.

The report persisted that Police Commissioner Joseph A. Warren, who had been under fire for the delay in solving the Rothstein murder mystery, would resign after indictments are handed up.

URGES JUGOSLAVIA BE SPLIT INTO PROVINCES

Zagreb, Jugoslavia, Dec. 4 (AP)—Svetozar Prebitchevitch, president of the independent Democratic party which is allied with the Croatian peasant party, today urged that Jugoslavia be split up into six provinces, each having local autonomy under a governor representing King Alexander. He proposed Belgrade remain as seat of the national government.

Declaring himself as not favoring out and out separatism, M. Prebitchevitch, who was formerly prime minister, depicted a future Slav state extending from the Adriatic to the Black Sea.

Struggle to Land After Fall in Mystic

Water from the Mystic river was dripping all over Sullivan sq. from the clothing of John O'Neil, 36, of Broadway, Everett, today, when he was stopped by a policeman and questioned.

He was taken to the relief hospital, where he was found to be ill as a result of immersion. O'Neil said he had fallen into the river and struggled ashore.

Santa Claus Firebug Suspect Held in $2000

Oscar P. Black, 21, of West Somerville, charged with setting fires in the Oliver Building, in Milk st., of which he was assistant superintendent, was held in $2000 bail today for Superior Court when he was arraigned before Chief Justice Bolster in municipal court.

Black is said to have admitted to police he set the fires because it meant extra work and more money for him, and he needed the money for Christmas. The court declined jurisdiction.

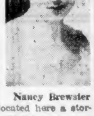
Nuisance Industry in Quincy Scored

AFTER the votes are all in tonight, Quincy will no longer have "Welcome" written on her mat for the fellow who chooses to keep his coal in the bathtub instead of in the cellar where it belongs. This is Dr. Charles Herbert's belief, and this was his original definition of the zoning ordinance, as given in his talk before members of the Quincy Federation. The measure was defeated in the referendum two years ago, but the subject has been revived and is causing widespread discussion throughout the city.



Nancy Brewster

The doctor declared that no city is benefitted by encouraging "nuisance industries" to come to it. High explosives and all odoriferous commodities come under this heading. Forty years ago Boston trailed her sewage across Quincy's front door, he says, then planted a garbage incinerator at the back door, and now thinks Quincyites are feeble minded enough to meekly accept a project to have located here a storage tank for 26,000,000 gallons of gasoline. Everett's recent disaster was held up as a warning of what might happen if this were permitted. Club members were reminded that 57 cities and towns in Massachusetts have already adopted the zoning ordinance; and the city is looking to its influential clubwomen for support of this bill to keep out the nuisance industries.

STATE CHEMIST SPEAKS

Another interesting speaker of the afternoon was Miss Ruth Blaisdell, State chemist, and daughter of the club president, Mrs. Oscar A. Blaisdell. Her subject was "Chemistry as an Aid to the Business of the State." She stated that the total purchases of Massachusetts during the year averaged approximately $10,000,000. This was spent on coal for 66 power plants, and food and other incidentals for the 37,000 inmates of 30 State institutions. The business of her department is to analyze all food stuff and to penalize the contractor if he has sent inferior goods. In penalties levied on the coal contractors alone, her office has collected enough to pay the salaries of the office force and some of the expenses of the laboratory.

Besides buying the best at rock bottom prices and then testing everything to see that it is just as the manufacturer represented it to be, the State is following up the goods to see that the institutional staff is making proper use of what is purchased.

HARVARD BAND IN LEGION PROGRAM

By FRED TOYE
Radio Editor

RADIO LISTENERS and football fans have heard the Harvard University band on consecutive Saturdays doing yeoman work to stem the tide or disaster or to glorify the thrills of victory in the Stadium. Tonight the band will be heard without the characteristic, but musically destructive background of college cheering, announcerial dialog and telegraphic clicking. The 70 men of the organization will lend color to an American Legion program arranged by the Middlesex Post at the Roseland Ballroom. The band program will be picked up and broadcast by WNAC, starting at 8 o'clock.

THE LITTLE CORPORAL

NAPOLEON will strut through the French Revolution, advance upon Italy, take the Imperial seat in Versailles, and encounter double disaster in Holy Russia during tonight's Eveready broadcast, heard on WEEI at 9 o'clock. The Little Corporal's military exploits will progress in step with various of his love affairs, with the double debacle above mentioned occurring in the vicinage of Moscow. Lionel Atwill will simulate the conqueror Rosaline Greene, the Empress Josephine, and Selena Royle, Marie Walewska.

CAPT. JOHN SMITH

HISTORY which may be veracious, but undoubtedly lacks the solemn reverence which custom has attached to certain highlights in our national career, will also take the boards at the same hour but on the sister Blue Chain and through WBZ during the Three-In-One Theater broadcast. The players will present a familiar episode out of John Fiske, namely, the encounter of one Capt. John Smith and the Indian maid. The skit is titled, "Pocahontas Gives a Scalp Treatment," and is one in the series of "Embarrassing Moments in History."

PIRATES AHOY

IF THE RADIO PUBLIC doesn't know its Gilbert and Sullivan, it is no fault of the broadcasters. "Mikado," "Iolanthe," "Pinafore" and "Patience" are tempting morsels for program directors in search of material. The liveliness, the singability and the general popularity of these charming operettas make them always welcome. Tonight we get "Pirates of Penzance" through the Columbia System and WNAC at 9 o'clock. The plot hinges upon the dilemma of a youth, apprenticed to a band of pirates, who falls in love, as youths will do. It looks as though he would have to serve his apprenticeship for life, as he is a leap year child, and his 20th birthday is 60 years away instead of just around the corner. However, the solid British constabulary readjusts everything to everyone's satisfaction including the Pirates'.

MANY MEN HAVE CONSTANT COUGH

Caused by Catarrhal, Asthma or Bronchial Trouble and Smoking

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY SOON STOPS THE COUGH

Some men can smoke constantly and never cough, but let them catch a deep-seated cold and get a touch of Catarrhal, Bronchial or asthmatic trouble in their throat, Bronchial tubes or lungs and they are bound to have an awful cough. Their system has difficulty throwing it off and in time they weaken and are apt to fall easy victim to respiratory lung diseases, pneumonia, fever or grippe.

NEED REAL REMEDY

Such coughs in themselves aren't dangerous or alarming and any man may easily rid himself of such troubles and at the same time fortify, strengthen and build up his system so nature will be impervious to future attacks. It merely depends on how long it has clung to him, how long it will take to throw it off.

A couple large bottles of Lin-O-Nine, a nice tasting, creamy white mixture of Flaxseed Oil, Cassia, Eucalyptus, Betula, Irish Moss and Glycerine does the trick. It is nice to take, soothes the membrane lining almost instantly; checks the cough and rapidly assists nature in the work of throwing off the catarrhal, bronchial or asthmatic symptoms.

Lin-O-Nine is more thorough and faster working than nasty, nauseating Cod Liver Oil, which is about the only other real remedy for such troubles.

Lin-O-Nine is made of finest ingredients and guaranteed by the long established, nationally known Kerr Chemical Corp. Doctors, specialists and thousands of users endorse it. Local druggists are featuring Lin-O-Nine. At this time of year grave dangers lurk in coughs and colds. Two sizes 60c and $1.00.

The 'Uke' Player

Boston's own Earle Nelson and his overgrown "uke" are now national radio features. Earle and his uke made their national debut on the N. B. C. network on Thanksgiving Day, in company with Ganna Walska and Belle Baker in the Fox Fur Trappers' broadcast. Nelson is a regular feature in the weekly broadcasts sponsored by the I. J. Fox Fur Company over WEEI.

WOUNDED VETS SEE SHOW

Six members of the cast of "A Connecticut Yankee," playing at the Majestic Theater, entertained wounded war veterans at the United States Veterans' Hospital at Bedford.

Among those who performed before the veterans were: Paul Parnell, conductor, Blanche Parker, Dorothy Ruvino, James Cushman, Frank Bocatti and Richard Lane. Lane acted as master of ceremonies, telling stories and introducing his associates. He ended the performance with the singing of the famous war song, "Madelon."

THE RISE OF

LOTTA CRABTREE

The thrilling life story of one of the most compelling personalities of her time

"Annoyed because their quarries were actors and could be expected to have small funds, the bandits forced the company out of the coach at the point of pistols and put them through a variety of entertainment on the dusty road."

"Lotta Crabtree was one of the noblest characters in the history of American Womanhood. The Boston Evening American is doing a splendid thing in bringing before the reading public the story of her life."

General Clarence R. Edwards, "daddy" of the Yankee Division and one of the three administrators of Lotta Crabtree's will.

Here is a different biography—one that catches the throbbing beat of an excited and an exciting generation. "The Rise of Lotta Crabtree" sweeps along with the tide of the gold-rush to California and traces the development of that picturesque region in the days when clusters of ramshackle mining camps dotted its hills and mountains and the "golden West" was something more than a figure of speech.

The story sparkles with the great names of the American theatre, Edwin Booth, Lola Montez, the Chapman family and finally the dazzling figure of Lotta Crabtree—the most colorful woman of her time. For the first time in any newspaper, the Boston Evening American is publishing the life story of this amazing woman. Read of the struggles of early actors, the accumulation of the Crabtree millions, the famous Crabtree will, and Lotta's magnificient bequest of $2,000,000 for the benefit of World War veterans.

WITCH SLAYERS TO FACE TRIAL UNDER GUARD

York, Pa., Dec. 4 (AP)—Counsel having been named for each of the three confessed slayers of Nelson D. Rehmeyer, a farmer, the prisoners will be given a hearing tomorrow before Alderman W. F. Owen on a charge of murder.

John Blymer, Wilbert G. Hess and John Curry, three believers in witchcraft, who said they killed Rehmeyer to obtain a lock of his hair to bury under eight feet of ground to break a spell, will be taken from jail under a heavy guard tomorrow to the place of the hearing.

Residents of York are stirred over the killing and it is said the place of the preliminary trial may be changed from the alderman's office to the courthouse.

COPS HALT WAR IN WORCESTER COUNCIL

Worcester, Dec. 4 (AP)—Four police officers were rushed from headquarters to the Common Council chamber when serious trouble was feared because of the bitter language used by certain Democratic members in their caustic attacks on Axel U. Sternloff, a Republican councilman. At a previous meeting, during the two months' absence of the Democratic members on strike, Sternloff had charged the Democratic party with responsibility for the attacks on the Hoover parade in Worcester the night of November 5.

Twins in 'Mike and Ike' Stunt Fool 'Em All

IT'S more fun for Victor and Virgil Thurston of Saco, Me., to be twins than it is for their poor professors, who can't tell them apart.

Victor and Virgil, students of engineering at Northeastern University, look more like each than they do like themselves, and neither their professors nor their employers—they both work the same job—know which is Victor and which is Virgil.

Virgil goes to school while Victor works for a Manchester engineering concern, and then the twins shuffle around and Victor goes to school while Virgil picks up the job.

ROBS VIC TO PAY VIRG.

The youths have many amusing experiences, according to Virgil—at least he looks like Virgil, although he also looked like Victor.

"Two years ago," he said, "when we were counting cars at Ellsworth, Me., the road was under construction. Vic was at one end of the torn up road, I at the other end. It was repeatedly asked by the autoists: "How did you get here so soon? Didn't I see you at the other end?"

"Sometimes if I am lucky I reap the reward intended for Vic. At Ellsworth a lady's automobile got stuck and Vic helped change tires for her. Just as he was finishing and putting away the tools I appeared. The woman thanked me and handed me the 50 cents. Vic and I shared the spoils later. I refused to give it all up.

THEY'RE INVENTORS, TOO.

"Once I remember eating Vic's ice cream soda. We were stopping at a small hotel one summer while working. Vic promised to lug some furniture out for someone. I happened along as he carted the last load out and the woman for whom he was doing the bit told me my ice cream soda was waiting for me. I took it."

The boys are working on an invention that will automatically count traffic. This invention is in connecton with their senior thesis entitled, "Design and Construction of a Trafficometer," inspired by the jobs the twins held last summer in making a traffic survey of Maine for the State Highway Commission.

FOG HALTS BOY FLIER'S STUNT

Columbus, O., Dec. 4 (INS)—Following two unsuccessful attempts to get through the wall of fog and the "low ceiling" east of here Richard E. James, 17-year-old solo pilot, brought his plane to earth at 11:15 a. m. today, and grimly prepared for another takeoff for Bellefonte, Pa.

This time, James said, he will wait until weather bulletins from the U. S. observatory here indicate that visibility above the hills to the east has improved.

20,000 HOMES LOST IN QUAKE

Santiago, Chile, Dec. 4 (AP)—Persons injured by the earthquake, which centered at Talca and Constitucion were being evacuated from the devastated region today and sent to Santiago. President Ibanez informed the authorities at Talca that 500 beds were at the disposal of the injured in the capital

The known death toll was set at 218 with the seriously injured at 257. It was stated that slightly more than 2000 had been slightly injured and that 20,000 persons were homeless.

M'NARY'S NEW FARM BILL READY

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Farm relief legislation drafted on the Coolidge design and apparently with administration approval was started on its way today in the Senate with the inroduction of a surplus control measure by Senator McNary (R.) of Oregon.

It establishes a federal farm board with a fund of $300,000,000 to assist proposed stabilization corporations in the orderly marketing of crops through the withholding of surpluses from the market.

Senator McNary, the chairman of the Senate agriculture committee and co-author of the twice vetoed McNary-Haughen bill, left out of the measure the controversial equalization fee provision which drew so much fire from the administration.

EQUALIZATION FEE OUT.

"The bill," he explained in a statement, "includes not only those basic provisions of farm relief that have won the support of farm leaders in general, but also the recommendation of Secretary Jardine and other administration leaders, together with the surplus control legislation promised in the Republican platform."

The farm board would be composed of the Secretary of Agriculture and six members, three Republicans and three Democrats, to be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The board is empowered to organize advisory councils for any commodity, selecting the seven members of the council from persons nominated by the co-operative marketing associations and producers handling the commodity.

STABILIZATION POWERS.

"It will be the duty of the council to advise with the board on crop situations and to advise producers through their organizations of suitable programs of planting or breeding.

After the organization of an advisory council for a commodity the federal board would be empowered to certify a stabilization corporation for that commodity, to be organized under the law of any state. All voting stock or membership interests in the corporation must be held by co-operative marketing associations or producers handling the commodity involved.

These corporations would have authority to act as a marketing agent for their members and to purchase, sell or market any quantity of the agricultural commodity or its products either from members or in the open market at prevailing prices.

NO LOSS UPON NATION.

Under the plan, crop surpluses would be handled by the corporations through loans from the federal board, but no loss would be paid from the Treasury of the United States. Whenever the board determines that a surplus is liable in any crop, it may make loans to the corporations up to $225,000,000 for the buying and storing of the surplus.

"The plan as a whole," Senator McNary said, "would be administered by a federal farm board consisting of the Secretary of Agriculture and six members who would be in sympathy with agriculture and selected for their demonstrated capacity and fitness for the job.

"While this plan goes beyond any legislation yet enacted for the aid of farmers, its ultimate success is in part dependent on existing laws providing for agricultural credit, cooperative marketing, research in agriculture, adequate tariffs and other agricultural legislation."

WILLYS OVERLAND AGENTS HEAR SERVICE EXPERT

A large number of dealers and service men of the Willys Overland Co. attended a lecture at the Boston Whippet Knight Corporation rooms, 533 Commonwealth ave., where W. H. Burl, factory service representative, was the speaker.

The company, in the interests of its dealers, service men and the purchasers of its products, is conducting a series of these "service-educational" lectures throughout New England.

The purpose is to acquaint dealers and service men with the most modern and economical methods, and the meetings have resulted in a broader understanding to the great benefit of the dealer organization and customers.

$500,000,000 IN UGLY CHURCHES, SAYS CADMAN

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—In the opinion of Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Congregationalist, Protestants have wasted more than $500,000,000 in producing unbeautiful churches in the United States. In an address to the New York Methodist Ministers' Association he included his own church in this description.

CHAPTER 31

THE moon, hanging low in the sky gave a pale, ghostly light among the trees. Anyone passing the road could not see, without special effort, the vehicles and the two men in the grove that surrounded the church. Eddie walked straight up to Freeman and faced him.

"What's it all about, Big Boy?" he demanded.

Freeman had left his hat in the car and he could see a faint curl in the hair of the other above his sullen, [illegible] colored face.

"It won't take me long to tell you," Tom Freeman replied. "I'm no eavesdropper, and you understand yourself what these party telephone lines are. I picked up my phone this evening and heard you talking to a certain party—"

"And of course you stood there with your ear glued," Eddie said, deliberately insulting.

"I listened because it was a matter of personal interest to me," Freeman retorted. "I heard you make a date to call on this party, and I'm here now to tell you that you can't do it."

"Who says I can't?"

"I say you can't. You've been warned that you're not wanted there and as long as her father is out of the county I'm going to see that you don't put foot on the place."

"You're so thoughtful of her father," Eddie mocked him.

"That's only part of it, Buddy. I've got a score of my own to settle with you—on account of the little argument we didn't have time to finish the other night. It was a lucky thing for you she came out and stopped it."

Eddie saw the uselessness of words between them—Freeman wanted a fight and there was no way without sacrificing pride to avoid it.

"All right, Freeman," he said. "No use chewing the rag about it. I'm with you in a minute."

Deliberately, he took off his coat and hat, stripped himself to his sleeveless undershirt. Freeman was a [illegible] moment's [illegible] held up his hand warningly—

"You've been wanting this ever since we met, Freeman. There won't be any handshaking—this is your grudge fight and it's going to a finish. Understand? One of us is going to get licked good."

"I'm with you to the finish," Freeman growled. One moment they were standing facing each other

PARKER CALLS OFF POLICE IN AUTO DRIVE

Registrar of Motor Vehicles George A. Parker today "called off" the Boston police who have been taking numbers of all automobiles failing to carry "tested" stickers, with resultant revocations of registrations where defective equipment is found.

No explanation was given by Capt. Parker in notifying Supt. Michael H. Crowley that he wished the police to cease their activities in stopping cars, but it is understood his action resulted from the flood of protests that poured in.

It was further understood police of other cities and towns in the State would be called off, leaving the motor vehicle inspectors to carry on the campaign alone.

Inspectors of his office will continue to check up on "stickerless" cars.

"This drive will continue until I am reasonably sure that the equipment, insofar as brakes and lights are concerned, of every automobile in the State is in safe condition," the registrar said.

He declared he has no sympathy for the person who complains about the hardship imposed on the motoring public through campaigns of this sort.

"The sole purpose of these examinations is to save lives," he pointed out. "The decent fellow is glad to cooperate. And from the reports coming in the results are gratifying. At the same time those that do not want to cooperate will have to assume full responsibility."

POLICE BATTER DOORS TO NAB 159 FOR GAMBLING

Chicago, Dec. 4 (AP)—When sledge hammers of police broke down the steel doors of Lawrence Mangano's Minerva Club in Halsted st., 159 men were arrested for gambling. An injunction had barred police from raiding the resort, but a search warrant was obtained when a patron complained he lost $1500 there.

Several weeks ago Capt. Luke Garrick's home was bombed after he had led a raid on the Minerva Club. Mangano was arrested for the bombing which imperiled the life of Garrick's invalid wife, but was freed. The shock of the bombing was held responsible for Mrs. Garrick's death soon.

NO NEW CARDINALS NOW, SAYS VATICAN

Rome, Dec. 4 (AP)—Official announcement was made at the Vatican today that the forthcoming consistory will be secret only—meaning that no new cardinals will be created, as had been expected. Denial also was made that the cardinal primate of Spain was coming to Rome to receive the red hat.

Traffic representatives of the Boston & Maine from all parts of the country, in conference at the Parker House today, promised to reach and probably exceed the mark of $52,000,000 worth of freight business for 1929 set by President Hannauer in a speech last night.

Various suggestions to increase the road's business were offered, including concentration on certain commodities, requesting New England merchants to ask for B & M routings [illegible]

13,000 Teachers in Chicago Find No Money on Pay Day

Chicago, Dec. 4 (AP)—Thirteen thousand Chicago school ma'ams went without their pay today because the school board was unable to meet its $3,500,000 payroll.

The president of the school board said the schools would remain open, "no matter what happens." It will be two or three days, he said, before the money will be forthcoming.

Last week a deficit of nearly $12,000,000 in the schools' finances was made public. City and school officials decided the city would buy $6,000,000 worth of school tax warrants, which banks refused to accept, to tide the schools over through December expenses.

SALESMANSHIP AND DRAMA HAND-IN-HAND AT HOLLIS

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

IF there is anything about the Theater Guild more worthy of respect than its profession of faith, we would casually mention its sales management. For the first of its experiments at the Hollis, "The Guardsman," a comedy by Ferenc Molnar, [illegible] the weight of the theater rests with a substantial subscription list. From the stage you were invited to join the roll of honor; at the boxoffice you could sign up for the [illegible] and embrace all the accruing benefits.

JOHN GILBERT IN 2-FACED DRAMA

By LEO GAFFNEY

The old-fashioned melodramas of C. C. Blaney's day would have a fancy name for the character John Gilbert plays in his new picture at Loew's State, "The Masks of The Devil." They would stigmatize him with that highly expressive opprobrium, "two-faced." But in this more sophisticated day and age—and more particularly in this Michael Arlen-ish story of Jakob Wassermann's—it is hardly the smart thing to descend to such common terminology. Nevertheless, we are forced to make the descent and advise you that in his particular drama, Mr. Gilbert is not only "two-faced" but also—something far more dreadful—"two-time."

For the sake of Mr. Gilbert's good name we must henceforth in this notice refer to him in his character name, Reiner. Reiner is a wealthy European gentleman who wears a most delicately seductive moustache and a style in neckwear that must be described only as "distinctive."

Reiner's principal occupation is the betrayal of his friends and their womenfolks. When one disillusioned husband, dying, calls him the devil incarnate, Count Reiner walks over to the nearest mirror and is shocked to discover that there is a likeness.

Two-faced

Having tempted the fiancee of his very best friend, the Satanic Reiner must answer to another enraged gentleman. The second shooting affray takes place and the "devil" proves that he is only mortal by being wounded.

Two-time

The ending of "The Masks Of The Devil" is just as smart as the rest of it. It is not made plain whether or no the last shot finished the devil's [illegible]. Left with the distressed fiancee, he turns a few [illegible]

[illegible] Roberts, Director [illegible] the picture might [illegible] of the [illegible] a tribute to them [illegible] and a far cry from the "saved through the power of love" theme that is so frightfully familiar. Technically, barring some trite captions "The Masks of The Devil" is one neat job all the way through.

Ray Read and the "Burlesque Review" is the feature of the Howard this week. Pictures and vaudeville are also in evidence.

TOPLINERS OF PARIS AT B. F. KEITH

[illegible]er and Tamara, recent stars of the Folies Bergere, head the bill this week at the B. F. Keith Memorial Theater, with Sylvia Clark in song and monologue, Nellie and Sara Kouns in a song recital, and Joe and Pete Michon in an out of the ordinary acrobatic skit, affording them close competition for applause.

Jack Osterman, "Broadway's playboy," even as the playbill delicately puts it, demonstrates himself as master of "that horrible and beautiful art, wise-cracking." His interpretations of song hits of the moment were well received last night.

"Max and His Gang" open the show. The "gang" recruits its membership from among the best trained dogs of stageland, and Max, dancer and contortionist of no mean ability, proves himself a square-shooter with his pups by doing a good honest half of the hard work.

Nellie and Sara Kouns, who quit "society," so the program says, to give their energies to careering, seem to have chosen wisely. Soprano solos and duets are nothing for a layman to pass judgment on, but listening to the Kouns Sisters is exceedingly easy on the ears.

The photoplay of the week is "His Private Life," with Adolph Menjou and Kathryn Carver.

Continuing Shows

By NICK FLATLEY

PICKING 11 STARS OUT OF 1000 NO CINCH

THESE days we read strange names on the sport pages. The experts are picking their All teams, and boys suddenly blossom into print whose fame never has been previously mentioned. One of these modern All teams reads like the cast of a Sienkiewicz novel. We find that Zagloba is a great guard and Podbipyenta an outstanding defensive back.

The All expert is a very serious-minded gentleman. He peruses the public prints, from all corners of the land. His object in life is to find some unheralded star on an insignificant team, and blazon his prowess to the world. This expert collects clippings from the first day of practice until the final game of the year.

Then, for weary nights he peers through blurred eyes at summaries and stories. It is a work of real love, and when it's all over and an anxious public has the facts, the expert will fight to the death with anybody who presumes to tell him that he's a bit of a cuckoo, and that Soandso from Wheresis stands over Whatisname of Someplace like a tent.

Picking the eleven best football players in this broad land is exactly as possible as reading a woman driver's mind. It just can't be done. Boston is a very small section of these United States, yet here are players like Weston, Murphy and McGuirk of Boston College, Ellis of Tufts, French, Guarnaccia, Clark and Barrett of Harvard, not to mention a few that might be plucked from Brown and Yale and Dartmouth.

Multiply that collection by a hundred, and you have the squad from which the demon picker must get his team. The time is coming when every All team mentioned anywhere will be handed to a board and a fairly representative team selected by the averaging method. You'd be surprised how many fanatic statisticians would welcome that job—for no.

Until that day, however, teams must be named, because the fans want them. It would break their hearts not to have something to tear apart, after the coaches, officials, athletes and rules have been demolished. Bill Grimes, a fraternity brother, football bug and something of a transcontinental traveler, will do his stuff in tomorrow's American provided his typewriter and the black coffee hold out. That's worth watching for.

THE EXPERTS GET THEIR LETTERS WHEN THEY NAME THEIR TEAMS. AND WHAT LETTERS.

The expert has his ifs and whys,
But few to him will hark.
The boys think he should fraternize
With squirrels in the park.

OUR MONEY WILL RIDE ON THIS TEAM

HAVING peered down from the distant and sometimes drenched edges of various press coops at some dozen teams this fall, we are content to pick what looks like the best lineup from the bunch, and let it go at that. In this manner, we probably are not more than 90 per cent wrong.

Here's what seems to this correspondent about as good an All team as even the most exacting could desire:

R. E.—Murphy, Boston College. And what an end!
R. T.—McGuirk, Boston College. The year's very best.
R. G.—Hammack, Army. They did not pass him.
C.—Westgate, Penn. Our pick any time.
L. G.—Greene, Yale. A gridiron Marius.
L. T.—Barrett, Harvard. Real china-shop wrecker.
L. E.—O'Connell, Harvard. This kid loves it.
Q. B.—Ellis, Tufts. Just a coach's dream.
R. H. B.—Cagle, Army. Once in a life time.
L. H. B.—Weston, Boston College. Best since Eddie Mahan.
F. B.—Scull, Penn. A one-man football team.

Anybody who thinks his own mob could take this flock of turf chewers can argue it out with the aforementioned nut collectors on the Common.

FAME HAS ITS DRAWBACKS. THE ALL HEROES WILL BE ASKED TO TAKE THE BLINDFOLD TEST.

That's the way some of the boys seem to pick 'em. Now and again they make a lucky strike. (Free adv.)

ANYONE NAMED LANE SHOULD BE HOCKEY STAR

FOOTBALL is gone now, but the whirl goes right along. A large part of the enthusiastic citizenry will storm the new Garden this evening to see Myles Lane as a professional hockey player. Myles has been a sport hero hereabouts for many a long year. He was out in front at Melrose high, in prep school, and up at Dartmouth.

Myles, one of those natural athletes who stars at anything sportive he tries, has caught on with the money chasers. A rough, tough game, that hockey. The good players have to have plenty of physical and mental IT. Few boys from this side of the border get enough skating in their young lives to compete with the birds up over, where there is more ice, and, incidentally, plenty of good stuff to use with it.

Lane is an exception. He makes the grade in his first year, and according to what his fellow Rangers have to say, will be a star before the campaign ends. He will be a great card anyhow, the one thing needed to make the New York outfit the best ice attraction hockey has yet known.

His success isn't a bad break for the Garden, which seems to have been sent along under a milky way of lucky stars.

'Peres' to Honor Manager King

"Mike" King, who built up semi-pro football in this section with his Pere Marquette team, and who has been athletic director at his K. of C. council for the past dozen years, will be tendered a banquet and reception at the Elks Hotel on Wednesday evening, December 12. He recently was appointed a district deputy of the K. of C.

TO HONOR CAPTAINS AT FOOTBALL NIGHT

Commerce Club of Boston University College of Business Administration, will hold an open football night, December 10, at Collins Hall, Teachers' College.

Capt. Arthur Dorfman of Boston University, Warren McGuirk of Boston College, Arthur French of Harvard and Fred Ellis of Tufts will be guests of honor, as this gala occasion was planned primarily to honor these sterling examples of college athletics.

Victors on Grid Four Years Make Own Shoes

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 4 (AP)—Undefeated in four years, the "Shorties," lightweight football team of the Phoenix Indian school, have amassed the unprecedented total of 1960 points to their opponents' 12. The 1928 season just concluded was the leanest so far as collecting points was concerned, largely because two teams ran out on them, leaving only a five-game schedule, in which they collected 160 points to their opponents' none.

The Shorties made their own cleated shoes and uniforms at the school. J. D. Duram is their coach.

Weston May Play on All-East Team

RATED WITH BEST GRID STARS IN COUNTRY

The Eagles' captain, star end, and pilot are as good as any gridmen in the nation. And they're all New England men. Boston is proud of this trio, and Joe McKenney likewise. They are his products, and would make any coach proud.

CHARLIE MURPHY

AL WESTON

Eagle Quarterback May Travel West

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY

Al Weston, ace of the Boston College backfield and one of the best quarterbacks in the football world, has been invited to play in the annual East-West football game on the West Coast on New Year's Day by Andy Kerr, organizer of the East's team and likewise coach of Washington & Jefferson.

As the game will be played on the West Coast, Weston has not been able to tender an answer. He wants to talk over matters with the Heights authorities and also with Joe McKenney.

The Christmas recess at B. C. begins on the 14th of December and the return to class is booked for January 3. Weston might be able to arrange matters so that he'll be able to play.

The closest contest ever held for the captaincy of a Boston College eleven will be settled before the end of this week, according to Head Coach Joe McKenney, when the lettermen cast their ballots for the leader of the 1929 Eagle eleven.

Paddy Creedon, Pete Herman and Charley Murphy are the boys eligible for the honor. They have all played during three campaigns and have been prominent in the Eagle victories during that time.

MURPHY REAL STAR

Even a guess at the possible winner would be futile. Murphy has been the star of the past campaign and is due for more all-American honors than either Herman or Creedon because he has played a sensational game in a position where his work could get attention.

Murphy blocked more punts than any other lineman in the East. He made five touchdowns on the ends of forward passes and one of these was a Tris Speaker catch that scored the second Eagle tally in the recent classic with Holy Cross.

And he displayed uncanny ability in breaking up the opposing interference and making the tackles.

Creedon, on the other hand, was overshadowed by the great running of Weston. But little Paddy was right on Al's heels all fall. He almost equalled Tom Smith defensively, intercepted numerous passes and made many long jaunts. Creedon should grab all the offensive spotlight next year with Weston gone.

HERMAN CONSISTENT

Herman had little chance to shine but there was never any great amount of distance swung through his tackle. He spilled every enemy offensive play that was sent at his position.

Herman was consistent throughout. There are none who realize this more than the members of the Boston College squad. And they'll do the selecting of the captain. Herman is accorded an even chance with his two colorful rivals.

A year ago the B. C. squad was faced with a similar situation. McGuirk, captain this fall, was the winner over Al Weston and Tom Smith. Weston retired from the competition, being captain of the baseball team, and McGuirk finally won out by one vote from Tom Smith.

The lettermen will be selected by the student A. A. before Friday. The names chosen will be placed before the graduate athletic board for its approval. It is very unusual for a name submitted by the student body to be turned down by the graduates.

The Fordham game will be voted a letter contest. This means that John Marr and Austin Brosnan, two sophomores who played against the Caymen and not against Holy Cross will be rewarded with varsity insignias.

Twenty-six B. C. boys played against Holy Cross. Jerry M[illegible]ney, a senior who was injured early in the year, is also likely to receive his letter which will bring the tally up to 29.

Coach Joe McKenney, discussing post season conflicts, said that his team wouldn't have played on the coast in the Tournament of Roses had not Georgia Tech been selected. But there was nothing to be gained by meeting any other team as his boys had had enough football for the present season.

The annual banquet to the football team will not be handled by the Alumni this year. The student body is taking over charge and plans are under way. The date and place will be announced soon.

Gold footballs will be awarded to the athletes who played in the letter games at this farewell [illegible] get-together.

The usual ceremonies will take place and the football book will be closed for the season and placed back in the grid library until the season of 1929 brings Boston College to another campaign led by Joe McKenney, John McManmon, Bill Ormsby, Bill Ke[illegible] and [illegible] McNamara, all of whom will be serving B. C. again.

Want to Play?

The Metcalf football team would like to hear from some fast 115-pound team next Sunday afternoon. Write Pat Di Paola, 538 Branch ave., Providence, R. I.

HARVARD ON ICE AT GARDEN TODAY

The Harvard varsity squad of 60 and Coach Joe Stubbs will take to the new Boston Garden today for the first ice practice.

Harvard hockey has been under preparation the past week, the men reporting at Soldiers Field for conditioning exercise.

This year's hockey leader Johnny Taylor, will be on one wing and Bobby Giddens will be available for the other. Guy H[illegible], center on team B last year, will probably be pushed ahead to team A for the pivot post.

On the defense the Bigelow brothers who played on team B last year, will be ready for promotion. There will be Mal Stanley, on pro last year, but a star defender from two years ago.

Other forwards will be Charlie Lakin of the varsity team, Sam Batchelder and Johnny Garrison, both from the freshmen.

NEWARK BULLDOGS WIN IN R. I. RINK

Providence, R. I., Dec. 4 (INS)—Using the local rink as home surface, the Newark Bulldogs last night defeated the league-leading Philadelphia Arrows 2 to 1 in a hotly contested Canadian-American hockey league game.

Fox Shoots Deer in Northern Berkshire

Williamstown, Dec. 4 — Arthur Fox, former Brown University athlete, who is baseball coach at Williams College and assistant coach in football and basket ball, was the first hunter to secure a deer in Northern Berkshire when the open season began.

The Purple mentor was in the woods early and his efforts were rewarded when he shot a fair sized buck on the mountain side to the north of the town.

By BILL GRIMES

The Rangers, holders of the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's championship in hockey, are leading the American division.

BRUINS	RANGERS
Oliver, Pettinger, rw	lw, Bun Cook, Thompson
Frederickson, Weiland, c	c, Boucher, Murdock
Galbraith, Green, lw	rw, Bill Cook, Boyd
Shore, Gainer, rd	ld, Lane
Hitchman, Klein, ld	rd, Abel
Thompson, g	g, Roach

But they will be obliged to battle without the services of Ching Johnson, star defense man, who was injured last Saturday night in Montreal.

With Johnson out of the line-up, Myles Lane, the Melrose boy and ex-Dartmouth star, will start his first National Hockey League contest. Manager Lester Patrick had planned to hold Lane in reserve until the former Green athlete became fully accustomed to big league hockey. Lane has been used sparingly since the opening of the season, and has more than lived up to expectations.

Myles Lane is one of the greatest all-around athletes ever developed in Greater Boston and the first college graduate to enter the N. H. L. He is a stalwart chap, weighing about [illegible], is a fast skater, a passable stick handler, packs a fine shot, and is capable of taking care of himself in any company.

Thousands of Myles Lane's friends will be at the Garden this evening to assist in making the Dartmouth son's debut one to be long remembered.

Lane will be on the defense with another Alberta-born Taffy Abel, who was a member of the United States Olympic hockey team in 1924. The local fans did not see much of Taffy last season as the giant Ranger was out of the game with a broken wrist.

VETERAN LINE STARTS

Manager Patrick will start his veteran line, the Cook brothers, Bill and Bun, on the wings, with Frank Boucher at center, but the first line will be replaced at regular intervals by Boyd, Murdock and Thompson, the latter being a brother to the Bruins' goalie.

John Ross Roach, for years guardian of the nets of St. Pat's and the Maple Leafs, will make his first appearance here at goal for the Rangers.

After the Pittsburgh game, a week ago, the Bruins were given a three-day rest, but they have been back at work since Saturday and are displaying the best form of the season.

In the past the Bruins have attempted to get off to a flying start and before they reached the home stretch each spring they have been pretty well burnt out. A new plan has been inaugurated, one which is expected to bring better results.

The Bruins will be allowed to round slowly into condition this season, which means that the team will not hit its top stride much before the middle of next month.

LATE SPURT

But during the final six weeks of the season the Bruins should set a pace which will tax any team in the N. H. L. The Montreal Maroons have used this style of campaign for years and have been the greatest finishers in the league.

Already some of the thin-skinned Bruins' rooters are beginning to get panicky because their favorites are not well out in front. But it is better for them to do their worrying at this stage of the race to the championship than to collapse during the dash to the finish while pulling for an overtrained team.

Draft Satisfactory to Minor Leagues

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 4 (AP)—With proposed amendments to the draft regulations defeated before the national association of professional baseball leagues opens its annual convention tomorrow, indications were that the fight on the floor of the convention would be waged about the so-called "Branham Resolution," which is another amendment dealing with the draft.

The International League, the American Association and the Western League, which are bound now by only a limited draft, have expressed themselves at annual meetings in Toronto as satisfied with conditions as they are in regard to the selection of players by the majors.

As any action changing the plan by which the majors could draw on the minors for talent through the processes of the draft would have to be unanimous to make it effective the amendments formulated by the major-minor advisory council are doomed.

There was as a matter of fact no positive assurance that the majors would have accepted the amendments if they could have been enacted by this convention. With negative action certain when the question reaches the convention the annual meetings of the National and American Leagues in New York and Chicago next week and the joint meeting of the two leagues at Chicago assume added importance.

MAJORS SILENT

No representative of a major league club would discuss the question of possible action on the matter at New York or Chicago in advance of the convention here, but other well-posted baseball observers said it was certain the draft issue will be well to the front on the program for discussion at the majors meetings.

In the meantime W. G. Bramham, president of three minor leagues, the South Atlantic Association, Piedmont and Eastern Carolina, all in the South Atlantic States, is going ahead with his plan to fight for the adoption of an amendment providing for perpetual right to be drafted by players signing their first baseball contracts in leagues operating under the draft regardless of their possible later affiliation with clubs in leagues recognizing only the limited draft.

The decision probably will not be reached before Thursday as the opening day, Wednesday, will be occupied with formal organization of the convention and appointment of committees. The report of the committees on the second day will bring the whole draft question to the floor.

McNamara Team Up To Its Old Tricks

New York, Dec. 4 (AP)—The veteran combination of Reggie McNamara and Kla[illegible] Vannek flashed into the lead in the six-day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden early today. They traveled 615 miles and nine laps.

The early morning riding was marked by three prolonged jams, during which 82 laps were stolen making a total of 135 since the long grind began.

The score:

Influenza Hits Grid Squad on Eve of Game

Athens, Ga., Dec. 3 (AP)—Harry Mehre, head coach at the University of Georgia, Jimmy Crowley, coach, and seven men, most of them first-stringers, of the Bulldog football squad, are down with influenza and with their hardest game of the season with Georgia Tech around the corner.

It appeared probable tonight that some, if not all, the players listed as ill might not be able to participate in the game next Saturday.

Members of the squad in the hospital here tonight were Herdis McCrary, Glenn Lautzenheiser, Fat Bryant, Joe Martin, John Davidson, John Hill and Joe Poland. With the exception of Davidson and McCrary the players are all line men.

B. U. and M. I. T. in College Hockey Opener Saturday

TERRIERS HAVE NEW SYSTEM

Engineers Will Give Coach Vaughn's Novel Idea the Supreme Test

Boston University's hockey team will battle M. I. T. in the [illegible] son at the Boston Arena on Saturday night.

B. U. will use a different style of play than in other years.

[illegible] carry the puck [illegible] together and the forward line drops back on defense. This style of hockey has proven very successful at both Yale and Dartmouth.

The M. I. T. clash will give a good idea of how well the B. U. pucksters are going to take to the new method.

NEED PRACTICE

The Pioneers are suffering greatly from lack of practice at the present time and their game Saturday is likely to be below par as a result.

No practice sessions were held during the Thanksgiving recess and the Arena will not again be available until Thursday, just two days previous to the M. I. T. game.

The use of the ice by other college and club teams and the holding of the fights does not give the B. U. squad an opportunity to get on the ice.

Notwithstanding lack of practice, Coach Vaughan will send a strong team against the Engineers as he has a team entirely made up of veterans to take the ice.

VARSITY READY

The varsity six as it has lined up in the last three weeks of practice and which will start Saturday night, consists of Sid Silberberg, goal; Capt. Hoot Gibson, right defense; Bob Elliot, left defense; Holmes Whitmore, right wing; Dick Lombard, left wing; Buck Bergholtz, center.

A big crowd of B. U. rooters will be on hand as the student tickets issued during the football season will be honored at all hockey games.

Another feature will be the appearance of the college band in their new uniforms which drew much favorable comment during the football season.

Yale Ice Squad Is Reduced to 17

New Haven, Ct., Dec. 4—Coach Larry Noble and Captain Dick Cady of the Yale hockey team today made the final cut in the squad before the opening game next week. Seventeen were selected from the group of about forty which began practice last week.

Eight of the brilliant freshman team of last season won varsity recognition, including Schley, Stoddard, Breckenridge, Cruikshank, McLennan, Luce and Frank Nelson, captain. Three chosen were varsity regulars last year, Captain Cady, Paul Curtis and Winthrop Palmer.

Farrell and Cruikshank are being tried at goal. Nelson is a fast wing player and McLennan and Breckenridge unusually fast forwards. Noble last week [illegible] the veteran coach, Clarence Wannamaker, who has gone into business in Pennsylvania.

22 PRINCETON MEN ELIGIBLE FOR LETTERS

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 4—Twenty-two Princeton football players of the past season are eligible for varsity letters, having taken part in either the Yale game or in two out of the Cornell, Ohio State and Navy contests. Ten of these will graduate next June.

The letter eligibles are Capt. Howe, center; Mestres, Moore, Duncan, guards; Bartlett, White, Hockenbury and Green, tackles; Lawler, Stinson, Benedict, Morrison, ends; Miles, Levick, Norman, Strubing, Lowry, Wittmer, Bennett, Scarlett, Requardt and Jones, backs.

All this season's varsity ends, Newman Lawler, Johnny Stinson, Coop Benedict and Max Morrison, will be missing next fall. The backfield combination of Jack Norman, Mike Miles, Eddie Wittmer and Jack Requardt also will be broken up, all but Wittmer being due to graduate. Other backs who will graduate include Phil Strubing and Graham Jones. Capt. Church Howe, however, is the only regular who will be lost from the line.

Next year's captain will be elected when the team has its picture taken within the week.

Bowdoin Swim Coach

Middletown, Ct., Dec. 4—Hugh McCurdy, an old Bowdoin College star, has been named coach for the Wesleyan swimming team. McCurdy will begin work with the squad in Fayerweather Natatorium this week.

19 KNOCKOUTS SCORED BY DE KUH

Arthur DeKuh, hardest hitting heavyweight in the world, will arrive here tomorrow and train at one of the local gymnasia for the rest of the week for his 10 round battle with Jack Sharkey, uncrowned heavyweight champion, at the Arena [illegible]

On the shelf for six months, Sharkey will be no top-heavy favorite, for a lay-off always affects the direction and judgment of a boxer. At the same time, DeKuh has been piling up such an impressive list of knockout victories that astute judges like Tommy Loughran and Jack Kearns give him a better than even chance against the local contender for championship honors.

Among his knockout victims have been Lee Gates, Farmer Lodge, Eddie Benson, Ace Clark, Pat Lester, Sergt. Jack Adams and Jack Stone and, in the last month, he scored sensational one-round knockout victories over Tiny Roebuck, former Haskell Indian football star, and Johnny Widd, heavyweight champion of Sweden, to place him in the front rank among the drawing cards in New York.

Mass. Aggies to Have Good Court Team

Amherst, Dec. 4—In spite of the fact that Capt. Fred Ellert of Holyoke is the only letter man returning, and that last winter's freshman team was a poor one, varsity basketball prospects at Mass. Aggie for the coming season are not as dark as might be expected.

The squad, with the exception of the football men, has been working out for about a month under Assistant Coach Lawrence Briggs, who considers that there are at least 10 men capable of varsity basketball [illegible] on hand.

ENGLISH TEAM SCORES 342 RUNS IN 2D INNING

Brisbane, Australia, Dec. 4 (AP)—When they had scored 342 runs for eight wickets in their second innings of the cricket test match with Australia, the English team declared the innings closed. Australia had lost the wicket of their most powerful batsman, Ponsford, in their second innings before play stopped for the day.

First innings scores were: England, 521; Australia, 122. The home players, therefore, were faced with the task of scoring 742 runs in their second innings in order to win.

ANDY CALLAHAN TO BOX AT MARIEVILLE

Andy Callahan, Lawrence lightweight, has been signed to battle at Jack Doherty's club at Marieville, R. I. Doherty is now trying to secure a suitable opponent for Callahan. The latter has been a steady winner in Rhode Island rings, and the average run of lightweights run to cover at the mention of his name.

Doherty is waiting to hear from the manager of several high class lightweights to whom he has offered terms for a tussle with Callahan.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

THERE was a pleasant smile on the face of the rather rotund Jim Toland when Mr. Boston dropped into the latter's De Luxe Gym. Jimmy Brown was wearing his brightest sweater, while there was a touch of activity and cheer about the place.

One glance at the array of star boxers in action and the large crowd in attendance explained everything.

"There's Jack Sharkey boxing with Al Schooner," said Mr. Boston as he took a peek at the ring. "It looks natural to see the Boston heavyweight contender in action once more. Jack is getting ready for his [illegible] with Arthur De Kuh which will be staged at the Arena [illegible]."

DAN MORGAN, manager of Jack Britton, dropped over to where Mr. Boston was standing.

"I have just come from New York and I'm going to tip Sharkey he will have to be at his best to lick De Kuh," declared Morgan. "The [illegible] in this fight.

"I have always considered Sharkey one of the greatest heavyweights in the racket, but no fighter can retain his speed during a long [illegible]."

Sharkey boxed three rounds with Schooner. The latter surprised the railbirds by standing up and trading blows with Sharkey. Later Jack punched the large and small bags and shadow boxed. In all he worked 10 rounds. He scaled 197¾ pounds when he finished his workout.

"I'M adding Pat McCarthy and Elzear Rioux to Sharkey's list of sparring partners," volunteered Johnny Buckley. "I am also trying to secure the services of Jack Gagnon, whom I consider one of the best of the new crop of heavyweights."

"Britton is going to box at the Garden Friday night," asserted Morgan. "I don't know who will be in there with Jack. We originally accepted Frankie O'Brien on the understanding he wasn't a southpaw. I have since found out O'Brien is a southpaw, and so he is out.

"Britton never cared a lot about meeting southpaws. As a rule, southpaws make poor fights. I don't care who they dig up for Britton as long as the opponent boxes with his left hand out."

Britton then raced through a peppery workout. He displayed more fire than most of the youngsters.

ERNIE SCHAAF was the next star to take the center of the stage.

"I would like to get Con O'Kelley to agree to battle Ernie," said Phil Schlosberg. "It would be a swell fight and would draw a tremendous crowd."

Britton stood around and watched Schaaf go through his workout.

"He looks like a very promising heavyweight," said the Old Master. "I like the way he lets his punches fly. He will go a long ways in the heavyweight scramble."

"YOU know Jeff Smith, of course," said Johnny Buckley as he paraded up to Mr. Boston, accompanied by a dignified-looking business man.

"Hello, Jeff," piped Mr. Boston. "I'm glad to shake the hand of a veteran of more than 800 ring battles. What are you doing now?"

"I'm selling business forms and business books in connection with a big magazine," replied the famous old boxer. "I lost most of the money I made in the ring when the real estate boom crashed in Florida. I am fortunate I was never injured in the ring and so found it easy to turn to business. I have made a fair success of things so far."

RED CHAPMAN was next to step out on the floor. Al Mello also went through a light workout. Pat McCarthy came in later. There were many lesser lights.

"When I see so many boys training in a gym, I wonder where they all get bouts," said Mr. Boston.

"The small towns help a lot," volunteered Mike Criss. "They act as the training school for the kids who are happy if they can pick up from $50 to $100 for a preliminary match."

"I THINK there would be fewer boxers if the kids read more about the experiences of boys in small towns and less about the million-dollar gates," replied Mr. Boston as he stepped into the open air.

Red Sox Owner, Pilot, Seek to Strengthen Team

Red Sox Chiefs Working Hard to Pick Up Needed Infielders and Gardeners

By JOE CASHMAN

President Bob Quinn and Manager Bill Carrigan of the Red Sox are on a ten-day trip which calls for visits to the minor league meeting in Toronto tomorrow, Thursday, and Friday, and the American League and joint major league meetings in Chicago, next week.

They hope to return with a few new players who will strengthen the Fenway outfit but frankly admit that trade prospects of succeeding are not particularly bright.

They are willing to trade any player on the roster in an effort to improve the team but, as they departed from the Hub, they knew of no beneficial trades that they might make.

He knows little of the ability of the players the club drew in the draft or those purchased after the close of the season, but all of these have been recommended highly by the scouts, and if he doesn't succeed in making a trade from now until the campaign starts he believes he already has enough promising new material to make the club more formidable than last season.

Boston Evening American "All" Team Tomorrow

The All America team, without which no football season is complete, in the opinion of the fans, will be furnished to the readers of the Boston Evening American tomorrow by Bill Grimes, one of the country's leading grid critics.

North, South, East and West has the American expert travelled this season to see the leading elevens in action.

Consequently, nobody is better qualified to undertake the task of picking such a team and no mythical eleven can possibly be any better than that which will appear in the Boston Evening American tomorrow.

Then, on Friday, Dick McSweeney, our schoolboy sports editor, will name an all scholastic eleven.

If you want to know who were the greatest college and school football players during the season just ended, don't fail to get a copy of tomorrow's issue of the Boston Evening American which will carry Bill Grime's college selections and a copy of Friday's issue of the Boston Evening American which will carry Dick McSweeney's schoolboy choices.

mere excitement of catching them [illegible]

Nearly all of them were young. They were posturing, perverse, [illegible], desperate, a single extravagant whole and Portsmouth Square was their sporting ground. [illegible] it on its four sides were substantial buildings, some of stone [illegible] in China, some of painted [illegible], ample balconies and finely wrought railings. Most of these were gambling houses [illegible] glimpses of [illegible] open [illegible] which [illegible] the wheel [illegible] was the great pulse [illegible] and the theater. On [illegible] the square stood the [illegible] building which had lately been the Jenny Lind, built by Tom Maguire and now sold to the city as City Hall, the third theater of its name on the site, each rising after a disastrous fire.

A little below on Washington st. was the lively little San Francisco; still farther down [illegible] the large new American Theater. Not far up the hill was the Adelphi. A half dozen smaller houses of entertainment was scattered near by. The gambling saloons often became theaters for a night. The [illegible] Union on the square, the most notorious of them all, had already played an essential part in the theatrical history of San Francisco.

Gambling and theatricals were inextricably intertwined in the city and in the mines, and both were accompanied by a richly flowing bowl. Every gambling house had a bar. Every theater had a bar at its entrance, even the decorous Adelphi with its classic lintel and [illegible] of [illegible].

Pretty young Mrs. Crabtree, how did she take all this bold measure? With aversion and with [illegible]. She never approved of it, yet she liked the sharp variety and highly splashed color. And at the moment, as she drove through the crowd, she became aware of a [illegible]. Children were still an uncommon sight in San Francisco. Lotta was gay, with her bright black eyes and red hair. Hands were outstretched as they passed. They were traversing a [illegible] endlessly [illegible] characters with whose [illegible] were to be closely [illegible].

Actors were all [illegible], confident of fortune, aware that the life of the stage was flourishing in California with extraordinary vigor and abundance. Young Edwin Booth, who had played Hamlet for the first time a few nights before, might have been seen riding down [illegible] a bay, [illegible]. Nothing could have seemed less [illegible] than that scene. Lotta Crabtree was mingling with the crowd of [illegible] as one of their [illegible]. [illegible] even a [illegible] theater [illegible].

Yet after only a brief interval Lotta was to learn [illegible] dancing, singing, the most popular soubrette of the day, or more truly a comedian, setting new fashions on the stage, splintering old ones, enclosing in her own small person a whole [illegible] page of American theatrical history. Stay Slender Dishes By Martha Lee

Martha Lee

HOW can we be expected to keep our girlish figures when at every bridge and at every tea fight, dinner party and after theater supper we are surrounded by all the most [illegible] fattening concoctions that human ingenuity and a clever hostess can devise? Most of us travel in the same circle of jolly friends month in and month out and I find that most of us stand united in the worthy ambition to ward off the "too, too solid flesh."

So why not have a little heart for the would-be thins in planning refreshments for our entertainments? Instead of trying to see how many calories of whipped cream and sugar syrups can be collected into a dessert, why shouldn't we better tax our ingenuity in discovering attractive desserts of low calorie content?

Then we wouldn't have on our consciences that our guests were going to a starvation diet the day after we had entertained them to pay up for our splurging.

Gelatin is an ever-ready ally for slenderizing desserts and the humble prunes are not to be despised. For instance, here is a delicious dessert that can be made without the help of a single speck of sugar.

Chilled Prunes with Lemon—Soak large California prunes over night and simmer them with slices of lemon in proportion of 3 slices of lemon to a cup of prunes. After they have been [illegible] gently for 15 minutes, put them over low heat to simmer for some two hours until the syrup is very thick. Remove from the fire, cool and put on the ice and serve in attractive glass sherbets. No sugar is necessary.

Snow Pudding—To ¼ box of gelatin add 1 cup of cold water. Let soak 15 minutes, then add 2 cups of boiling water, 5 saccharine tablets, the strained juice of 1 lemon, and a dash of cinnamon. Then add the stiffly beaten white of an egg and beat until the mixture is white. Pour in individual custard cups or moulds. Put back on the ice and serve very cold.

Cream Jelly—Dissolve ¼ box (1 envelope) of gelatin and 1 cup of cold water. Add 2 cups of boiling water, 5 grains of saccharine, the strained juice of 1 lemon and the grated rind of another and a dash of cinnamon. When cool add 1 teaspoon of orange extract and 3 beaten egg yolks. Chill and serve.

Wine jelly is delicious and nourishing and it can be made with the ever popular sherry jell.

Wine Whip—Dissolve 1 package of prepared wine jelly and 1½ pints of boiling water. Beat in 1 stiffly-beaten egg. If a stronger wine flavor is desired, add sherry jell. Cool and serve in individual glass dishes set in cracked ice.

Faithfully yours,
MARTHA LEE.

CORRECT MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

On some Sunday soon I am going to have four couples for tea. I am a little in doubt as to just what to serve. I would appreciate it very much, therefore, if you would advise me just what to serve, and how.

READER.

ARE you having high tea? This [illegible] the old-fashioned Sunday night supper. I would suggest cold chicken or cold roast beef or cold turkey with a salad [illegible]. I would have hot [illegible] or hot buttered toast, jelly or jam. I would have delicious tea, of course. And ice cream, an old-fashioned Prune Betty with hard sauce or an [illegible] cream cake for dessert. This [illegible] should be very "homey" and old-timey [illegible] will delight your guests. If you serve ice cream, little cakes or chocolate layer cake would be nice. Not too thick a cake, but just two layers, with the top layer well iced.

GIRL'S TWO-PIECE DRESS

6347—Sailor collars are again to the fore, as this attractive model indicates. The jumper or blouse is worn over a pleated skirt that is mounted on an underbody. The sleeves are finished with a regulation blouse cuff below soft gathers. Checked woolen, tweed, jersey or cashmere are suitable for this style. It is also nice in wash materials. As pictured brown and white checked suiting is employed with white broadcloth for trimming. Blue crepe with red is suggested. The belt may be of leather.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size will require 3¼ yards of 36-inch material together with ½ yard of contrasting material for facing on collar, cuffs, belt and pocket flap. 1⅛ yards of lining is required for the underbody.

Patterns mailed to any address on receipt of 15c. in coins or stamps. Send number and size of pattern ordered with your name and address.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for our UP-TO-DATE FALL AND WINTER 1928-29 BOOK OF FASHIONS.

Fads and Fancies

The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring will last many a season if they are made of exquisitely cut diamonds. Tiny [illegible] baskets and flower-shaped [illegible] no [illegible] bigger [illegible] postage stamp [illegible] shown [illegible] and [illegible] of a [illegible].

Like the teeth of a saw is the effect achieved by a costume jewelry set composed of a necklace and a bracelet. The stones are [illegible] cut in the shape of [illegible] teeth. The stones are set in double rows, a gold metal band joining them together.

Getting off key is rather a sad accident, but having a frock in an off shade is quite the thing just now. Violet blue, putty beige, grayish beige, reddish purple are very much in demand for both daytime and evening frocks.

From the far corners of the earth come choice herbs and spices to make this savory blend.

GRAY HAIR INDICATES BAD HEALTH, EXPERT DECLARES

Gray Hair Is Dead Hair. He Proves It Can Be Revived Again

TONIC STARTS YOUTHFUL COLOR RETURNING AGAIN

A newly discovered scalp tonic banishes itchy eczema, dandruff and falling hair and while doing this, users notice in amazement that the youthful, original color returns to their gray hair, almost as if by magic.

Primarily intended only as a tonic to put the hair roots, scalp and pigment glands in vigorous condition — it has followed that with restoration of healthy conditions, the hair revives and changes back from gray to its natural shade of brown, red, auburn, black or blonde as the case may be. What is more becoming than nature's own choice of color to match your style? No one wants an old-fashioned dye.

It seems a doctor asked himself this question:—If I can stimulate various organs of the body with a tonic, why not rub a stimulating tonic into the scalp that will revive those inactive glands so nature will resume putting pigment into the hair tubes of people who are gray? His search led to endless experiments but the reader may now obtain at drug stores here the tonic finally perfected, under the name of Lea's Hair Tonic.

Thousands of exhaustive scientific tests prove Lea's Hair Tonic absolutely unvarying in results and harmless even if used for many years. As a test, one may apply to small spot on scalp a few days and watch results.

Unlike old-time dyes, Lea's Hair Tonic is applied as far as possible to the scalp only. (You can dip your hair in a whole basin of Lea's and not change the color, but apply as directed with the finger tips to hair roots and scalp and it will restore original color all the way from beneath the scalp to the very tips.) The doctor once demonstrated this to prove Lea's wasn't a dye. It doesn't stain—experts cannot detect its use. Shampoo as often as desired. Complete satisfaction guaranteed. At drug stores or pin dollar bill to name and address and send, Lea Tonic Co., Brentwood, Md. Bottle and directions by return mail.

CHAPTER 48

ROALA'S morning continued as astounding as had been the startling succession of events of that preceding eve. The same skillful women attendants, garbed in their flowing robes of white, approached her with respectful gestures. They [illegible] with them a breakfast of [illegible] and [illegible] that the girl could only [illegible] this and that—her [illegible] by the [illegible] bounty served on golden salvers.

"How strange that you are so kind to me," she ventured, smiling nervously, "and yet you will not be good enough to tell me where I am . . . why I should receive such hospitality . . . and yet be a prisoner."

The attendants shook their heads. Some dreadful fear still kept its finger on their lips. Their soft brown eyes alternated with expressions of [illegible] and curiosity [illegible] a feeling which the girl [illegible] as envy.

"How long am I to remain here? Can't you even tell me that?" Roala [illegible] still no hint of her [illegible] the [illegible] of her uncertainty.

A [illegible] of sunbeams pierced the fantastic bronze of the grill at the window casings. She walked toward it, and standing tip-toe, peered through. The two women sighed, collected the dishes and retired almost noiselessly through the great door.

"It must be the home of the rich merchant I heard Nash and Fatima [illegible] speaking about," Roala told herself, as she viewed the [illegible] tops of mango trees. "And that must be the great river yonder, in the distance, over which my Sahib Dick is [illegible] a bridge."

Her heart [illegible] with the thrill of even this slight intimacy.

"At least we are in the same city, and even now his dear eyes must be looking upon those broad waters."

[illegible] a mad yearning for the [illegible] of his hands, the warmth of his breath upon her bare shoulder [illegible] had been in that precious rendezvous the night before, and for [illegible] of his kisses on her [illegible].

"[illegible] the gods protect him and [illegible] his great task [illegible] to happiness . . . to all [illegible]." And with the blessing [illegible] in her heart, she [illegible] herself. Her [illegible] sought [illegible] for the [illegible] as she [illegible] the [illegible]. She rose, to [illegible] toward the faraway river.

Behind Her the Great Door Had Opened Once More

Behind her the great door had opened once more. Her attendants, with richer garments than she had ever seen before, approached her, [illegible].

"If you will follow to the bath, lady, we will prepare you for your day," [illegible] softly.

"We may now tell you that it will not be unpleasant, surely. More we cannot say," added the other.

Roala observed a change in their demeanor. Fear seemed to have left them, and she wondered. Without a word she nodded.

Across the glorious-tinted rugs [illegible] to a small door, hidden behind a great tapestry of strange [illegible] design. There came the [illegible] of a key from the other [illegible] the first attendant. It swung open and [illegible], at the foot of seven [illegible] a limpid pool surrounded by marble walls of rare carving.

"How beautiful!" she breathed, as the warm sun beat down in slanting beams upon the waters of the [illegible] bath. Above was a latticed roof, supported by high columns around which blossoming tropical vines laced themselves, nodding in the balmy morning breeze. "And is this just for me . . . for me alone?"

"You are all alone in here, except for us," answered one of the women. Yet, unseen by Roala, she shot a sly and humorous glance at her companion. The eyes of the other twinkled merrily for some reason.

"It is your bath, lady. The water was brought from the springs in the palace fountains by a dozen servants while you slept; it is sweet and fresh . . ."

The pungent fragrance of thousands of roses permeated the air [illegible] intoxicating in its sensuous appeal. For the instant Roala forgot the woe which had burned in her heart. Once more she seemed back in the woodland glades of happier girlhood years.

"It is a dream . . . a wonderful dream!" she murmured. "Oh, how beautiful!" She swiftly tossed aside her robe and [illegible] into the lapping waters of the pool.

'Oh, How Beautiful She Is,' One of the Women Whispered

"Oh, how beautiful she is," whispered one of the serving women to the other, as the lissome body flashed through the waters. Roala's [illegible] arms splashed in delicious [illegible] as she swam from one end of the pool to the other, now diving [illegible] in the water with the [illegible] of a brook fish in its native element.

"No great lady could do that," answered the other, smiling and suddenly turning to glance over her left shoulder at a small, ornately carved wicket window, high above them. "But she is fair enough . . . aye, too fair and too young . . . [illegible] for him who secretly watches her now," and this was whispered very softly.

"I pity her . . . yet I envy her," replied the other as Roala, shaking a thousand drops from her lovely [illegible], climbed to the stone coping of the pool.

[illegible] there, her wealth of hair [illegible] about her [illegible] shoulders, the girl slowly [illegible] her [illegible] and with the full strength of her marvelous dancing muscles suddenly leaped high into the air. Spinning around like some [illegible] leopard of the jungle, she suddenly dropped gracefully into the water again without a splash.

Again and again she raced from end to end of the pool, her limbs [illegible] in the native art of swimming which she had learned in her earlier years . . .

"Wonderful," she gasped, as again she lifted herself to the edge of the pool. "I feel as though I were a [illegible] fish [illegible] in the [illegible] of the wildwood . . ." and her [illegible] suddenly drooped into an unconscious [illegible] of [illegible].

"But I am not free . . . [illegible] in a wildwood. Oooh!" She [illegible]. "I am cold . . . oh, so cold."

"We will hurry," one said soothingly. She was gently patting the girl's neck, and lifting the heavy mass of dripping hair, when she paused. "Oh, I nearly broke that tiny chain, lady. I had not seen it before. How curious it is."

Roala started, and clasped her hands to her throat protectingly.

"It is nothing," she said. "Merely a little thing which I have worn since I was a baby. Worthless, my mother told me, but a charm for the gods to bring me fortune." She sighed. "And what miserable fortune they have brought." Then she smiled. "No one has ever bothered me before, since I was a very little girl . . . I don't even remember that much . . . so no one but Nisa and my father ever noticed it."

The other woman had brought a warm garment for her. Soft slippers were placed before her and her little feet deftly lifted as she slid her chilled toes into them.

"It is not truly cold I know," Roala murmured. "Yet we should [illegible] so . . . I [illegible] to swim [illegible], and have not done so for such a long, long time."

"Lady, we will dress you quickly, and bring you a warm drink. Then you will feel better," [illegible] a serving woman. She [illegible] the seven [illegible] and [illegible] wear [illegible].

Quickly [illegible] garments were [illegible] to her and slipped about her [illegible] attendant as the other [illegible] her hair and combed.

An unexpected knock [illegible] their labors. One woman hurried to the main doorway, opening it cautiously. Radio hurried a mumbled message from the corridor. The woman offered an obedient affirmative and returned to the wondering girl.

"We must hasten. He is waiting—and impatient," she told her companion.

[illegible] the questions which sprang from her fears. [illegible] better to face it and do her best to keep the [illegible] which she had [illegible] the night before [illegible] had promised to yield to no [illegible]. Yet, how she prayed that she might find some weapon with which to end [illegible] and forever! [illegible] on the other side of that imprisoning [illegible] she might snatch up some instrument which would free her from the ever tightening noose which choked her soul!

One of the women deftly tossed a [illegible] woven silken drapery over her head [illegible] it behind. She was [illegible] in a gentle but determined [illegible] her arm and led forward [illegible] helplessly.

There were no words from her [illegible] no utterance from the black guardians she had observed the night before—no sound save their soft footfalls along mysterious, winding corridors and down many steps of stone. Finally the warm, [illegible] of the women left her arms. She imagined she heard the rustle of their robes and then [illegible].

What an [illegible] of waiting!

A deep voice, speaking [illegible] native tongue with an ease that [illegible] could have ever [illegible] seemed to boom like the thunder of doom into her ears. The drapery which had hooded her was suddenly snatched away.

"How beautiful you are, my little dancing maiden!" came the voice. Her bewildered eyes, as she slowly raised her head, beheld an awesomely tall, middle-aged, [illegible] uniformed man; jeweled [illegible] glittered on his breast; his manners were those of a white [illegible] was the fashions of his clothes, yet on the turban twisted above his silvered hair was a great cluster of diamonds, rubies and emeralds. His face, lean, sardonic, intellectual, was that of a Hindu, unmistakably.

As Roala's dazzled eyes took in [illegible], the masterful [illegible]. He bowed, not in [illegible] with the imperious [illegible]. And as he [illegible] eyes swept down the lines of the [illegible] slender figure to his [illegible].

And beneath them [illegible] she saw a [illegible] tiger skin, preserved [illegible] wide open [illegible] so menacingly that she could not realize that it was only a rug!

It seemed about to spring at her, even as had that one long on the fateful night when Dick Meredith had saved her from death.

"Save me! Save me!" she screamed. And as her sense left her she was caught in the willing outstretched arms of his Royal [illegible] Highness, Kem [illegible] Din.

The Elimination Process

DRAWN BY Dorothy Flack

DOESN'T that call to mind your youthful struggles with algebra? Only through a process of elimination did you reach the solution to the mystery of "X." And so it is with you now.

So many [illegible] quantities are floating through your mind, but the "X" eludes you ever [illegible] only one thing to do, and that is, [illegible] rules to your love test.

[illegible] a process of elimination, each phantom face disappears until only the "X," the unknown [illegible], hazy before your eyes. And the more [illegible] unknown the more you are anxious to [illegible] the identity of Mr. "X" who is to [illegible] fulfillment of your [illegible].

And you'll find it [illegible] easy, once you set your mind down to [illegible]. Because Mr. "X" [illegible] set down [illegible] one [illegible] Mr. Right [illegible] you don't exactly like but [illegible] by the [illegible] wee ones. [illegible] So when you find Mr. "X" [illegible] before your [illegible] and [illegible] sleeping [illegible], then you'll know you have at last completed your process of elimination in the game of Love. And you'll be sure that Mr. "X" is [illegible] of your Dreams—the man who will bring [illegible] of your dreams and give you the [illegible] you have been [illegible].

Your friends will marvel at the result of your first five minute facial [illegible]. It rejuvenates the skin so [illegible] that any woman at once looks [illegible] younger. Being astringent, it draws away the [illegible] tale lines of age and [illegible] ugly, enlarged pores to [illegible] texture [illegible] as if by [illegible]. [illegible] restores [illegible] natural color and [illegible] out freckles better than a bushel of lemons. And it is marvelous how quickly it dissolves blackheads, corrects [illegible] and clears the face of eruptions. It makes the skin so fine that many women no longer need rouge. The skin becomes so clear and transparent that the natural color glows through the cheeks.

This amazing beauty secret is the new [illegible] invented cream of magnesia which has proved even better for the skin than milk of magnesia is for the stomach. It not only restores the skin to youthful beauty but it removes make-up and extracts impurities deep-set in the pores better than any soap or cold cream. That's why so many New York skin specialists insist that their wives, their patients and nurses cleanse their faces with nothing but cream of magnesia. And because it is milder than soap they tell mothers to use it on babies [illegible] with fine sensitive skins [illegible] greaseless, it cannot grow hair on the face.

Experts say it is the only real natural beauty [illegible] correcte [illegible] aged [illegible] pores [illegible] neck; you will be surprised [illegible] quickly it lightens that dark [illegible] looking skin that looks so bad with evening gowns. Or, see how lovely it keeps your hands even if you do the roughest kind of housework.

No wonder thousands send letters of praise and say that when they first heard of this new form of magnesia they could not believe anything could be so wonderful. But when they saw so many [illegible] complexions, they [illegible] large druggists everywhere, like Liggett, find it difficult to meet the constantly increasing demand.

To get genuine cream of magnesia ask for Denton's Facial Magnesia. The [illegible] size holds three fifty cent bottles. If you are not delighted, your druggist is told to return your money at once without question.

When chased by a purse-snatcher—speed up, and assume an expression of non-concern. Even flirt with the ruffian. Lead him on. Then—SUDDENLY—put on the brakes, according to above diagram.

With the brakes applied, the purse-snatcher will advance, and as soon as he has reached an advantageous position give a sudden flip of the rear wheel. This will unseat him. Then go ahead and enjoy your ride.

BAER FACTS

by Arthur "Bugs" Baer

SOME divorce facts from the City of Lilies and Wreaths, sometimes known as Chicago.

A prominent citizen of that town was playing bridge with his wife and two other miscreants.

Full of the joy of living in an age of science and research, he led an ace with all the confidence of a Channel swimmer in a bathtub.

Now when you lead an ace in bridge you are leading an ace. An ace is like the American flag or the bronze sox on the Statue of Liberty. No power on earth can pull them down.

When you lead an ace in bridge you can loll back, light a pipe or even take a short nap.

There is no higher card than an ace, unless you are playing in the Park Central.

So imagine the consternation of the citizen when his wife reaches way back into the Dumbville Guide Book and poultices a trump on that big, flaming ace.

After that, things were as quiet as a trip-hammer gliding through a rush order of new farm implements.

Their ridicule turned to admiration when she answered the waiter in French.

When she told the judge the facts, the judge also punched her on the beezer.

That was two punches, and she saved 12 more by not demanding a trial by jury.

Have the Xmas Spirit

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

By CONSTANCE CAMERON.

PROBABLY many mothers eye the huge assortment of toys possessed by their children and dread the added influx which Christmas Day always brings along.

One mother kept her son's playroom from being crowded with only occasionally used toys by suggesting that they go over his collection together and pick out those which he would like to give away to some little child who would perhaps not receive many gifts.

The very poor of any community are pretty well thought of and cared for with excellently organized charity, but there is an in-between class of people who are struggling along, barely living, but who are too proud to ask for anything.

It was a family of this type which the mother found. Being tactful, she approached the less affluent mother gently, saying: "Mrs. Brown, I'm sure you will have lovely toys for your three children, but will you do me a favor?" The plain, hard-working mother looked up in doubt. What could she do for this woman clad in soft warm furs? "If I can," she answered simply.

"Then please let my little boy bring over a basketful of his toys for your children. He gets so many gifts and he is in a fair way to become very selfish, unless you help me to make him realize the joy of giving instead of only receiving."

That was an odd thought. She, the drab, laboring mother being of any help to a woman who needed nothing in a material way. Still, she, the lady, said it would help make the little boy unselfish.

So the sting was taken out of the charity. The poor little mother didn't suffer any loss of self-respect. Wasn't she helping the lovely lady?

With a little kindness and tact you, too, can reach the children of a family who are not comfortably situated, yet who are not included in the charity lists. And these are the families who need us desperately.

Do not, under any circumstances, give away your child's toys without his consent. The worst looking object of the lot may be his most prized possession. But suggest to him that he look them over with you and pick out the ones to give a less fortunate little boy. In selecting toys to be given away, stress the point of how much the little boy will ENJOY this ball, or this toy automobile, rather than saying: "Let's give this away. You don't want it any more, anyway."

Let your youngster put the toys in good shape, washing those which will be unhurt by water, painting carts, ten-pins, etc., whose coats have become scarred. He will have a day or two of joyful and character building activity in preparing this box of toys. Let him, when the toys are mended, washed, or painted, wrap them up in tissue paper, taking as much pains with them as he does with gifts for his near friends. Let there be no suspicion of patronizing those less fortunate than himself, but rather foster the warm glow which comes of unselfishly sharing our possessions.

You scour your brain to think of new gifts for your tiny person. But remember in the rush of purchasing and preparation that his best gift lies in your helping him to cultivate a spirit of friendly fellowship, helpful co-operation in the work of getting ready for Christmas day, and the joy of giving, rather than the anticipation of receiving. You can't put this gift into his stocking, but you can put it into his heart. And hearts last so much longer than stockings.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND

ONCE a man used to give at least ONE ear-drum to his wife's conversation, but now the radio has cheated her out of even that little crumb of comfort.

* * *

Discretion is what comes to a man after the first motor smash, the second marriage, the third kiss, or the last drink. It is usually accompanied by a broken rib, shattered illusions, boredom or a headache.

* * *

A man's bath should be a private and personal matter; but, from the way he splashes, sputters, groans and sings under the cold shower, apparently his idea is to advertise his cleanliness to the whole world.

* * *

Nowadays most of Mother's "overstrain" comes from banting or hunting for a cook to stay in the kitchen; and most of Father's "overwork" from the struggle to get away in time for a round of golf or for discussing ways and means to get the fish to bite.

* * *

Some married couples get so far away from love-making that when they run across a pair of lovers "spooning," they have that surprise, "Well - they're-still-doing-that-sort-of-thing!" feeling.

* * *

After about 10 years of marriage, anything a woman may say in a domestic quarrel seems so entirely inadequate to express her feelings that she just naturally shuts up. That's how seasoned married couples "get along so nicely together."

* * *

A man sometimes uses all his art in trying to deceive a woman—and then a woman has to use a lot more art in pretending to believe him.

After 30 a girl ceases to look upon marriage as an adventure, and begins to regard it merely as a solution.

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

New England's Largest Financial Institution

We Solicit Your Business

We are equipped to handle it for the following reasons:

IN one hundred and forty-four years of uninterrupted service we have gained an unsurpassed business background. To administer the varied and complex services of modern banking we have provided personnel and equipment which are outstanding in New England. Specifically—

Convenient Locations Through our Head Office and eleven branch offices we offer modern banking facilities to Greater Boston's 350,000 families.

Trust Department The largest of any national bank in New England is officered and staffed to give superior service in every branch of trust administration.

Credit Department Accurate credit information, vital to the success of any business, is assured for our customers by continually revised files covering not only the United States but foreign countries as well.

Foreign Department It is recognized as one of the very best in the United States because of its thorough knowledge of how to do business abroad. It offers our customers the fastest bank cable service in the world.

Safe Deposit The Great Vault in our Head Office continues to be one of "the sights to be seen" by visitors in Boston. It offers complete protection for your valuables at small cost. Six of our branch offices offer safe deposit service also.

Investment Service Through our affiliated institution, The First National Corporation, our customers obtain judicious investment counsel and prompt execution of market orders. In ten years this organization has grown to take its place among the leading investment houses in the country.

Foreign Branches Our Branch in Buenos Aires is the largest American bank south of the Equator. In Cuba we have a branch at Havana, with branches at Cienfuegos and Santiago. The advantages of these branches to those who engage in business in these countries is well known.

Abroad Our own representatives in London, Paris, and Berlin, and our 22,000 correspondent banks throughout the world, are valuable contacts for business development and for those who travel. Our Travellers Checks and Letters of Credit are accepted throughout the world.

Travel Department Wherever you go and whenever you go you will find our Travel Department equipped to obtain your railroad and steamship tickets, your hotel reservations and to assist you in passport procedure.

These facilities perhaps account for the fact that 125,000 individuals and corporations have deposited here a sum greater by $150,000,000 than the deposits of any other New England bank. We invite you to become a customer of the bank.

Capital and Surplus $50,000,000

$12,000,000 IN NEW QUEBEC FINANCING

New financing aggregating $12,000,000 is now being arranged by the Quebec Power Company, which is controlled through stock ownership by The Shawinigan Water and Power Company.

The financing will be in the form of $8,106,500 bonds, bearing 5 per cent interest, which will be offered in the United States by Aldred & Co., Chase & Co., Joseph W. Gross & Co. and Minsch, Monell & Co., Inc. Simultaneously an issue of 800,000 pounds sterling debenture stock will be offered in Canada, England and France.

Upon completion of the proposed financing, Quebec Power Company will have outstanding only 502,372 shares of common stock in addition to the $12,000,000 of bonds.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds and debenture stock will be used to liquidate outstanding indebtedness and bonds of former subsidiary companies; to retire 6 per cent first mortgage bonds to be called for redemption on April 1, 1929, and to defray costs of additions and improvements.

The bonds about to be offered will be a first mortgage on all of the company's immovable property and transmission lines owned on December 1, 1928, and other collateral.

Quebec Power Co. generated 121,928,310 K. W. H. electric current in 1927, an increase of 75 per cent, compared with 69,417,000 K. W. H. generated in 1923. The company serves the entire city of Quebec, an important port on the St. Lawrence river, and adjacent territory.

Quebec Power Co. also owns Quebec Railway, Light & Power Co., which operates the only street railway in Quebec and an electrically equipped railroad from Quebec to Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

The company owns five hydro-electric plants with a total capacity of 38,800 horsepower, 530 miles of transmission lines and a steam station of 8300 horsepower. Additional current is purchased from The Shawinigan Water & Power Co. under long-term favorable contracts. Its gas plant, with 1,000,000 cubic feet capacity, is now being increased to 3,000,000 cubic feet daily.

New England Has Twelfth of U. S. Telephones

New England States, constituting 2 per cent of the nation's area and containing 7 per cent of its population, has 8.4 per cent of the telephones and 10.7 per cent of long distance lines. Other interesting comparisons are that this area produces 8.7 per cent of the individual incomes of the nation, 7.4 per cent of the postal receipts, and owns 6.3 per cent of all the automobiles.

Over 28 per cent of all the nation's telephones and 37.7 per cent of long distance wires are located in the section comprising New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia. This section contains almost 27 per cent of the population.

STEEL PRICES SHOW CONTINUED ADVANCES

Further advances in steel prices are in prospect, with the possibility that the rise will attain larger dimensions than for some years. The Brookmire Economic Service, Inc., states. Demand for stel has maintained such an active pace that the mills are able to operate at a higher rate of capacity than in any recent season. There is every indication of a continued gain in demand, the economists say, with the result that the narrow margin of unused capacity will force prices still higher.

FITKIN IS OPERATING CALIFORNIA PROPERTIES

Coast Counties Gas & Electric properties in California are now under the direct operating control of the United States Engineering Corporation, the operating company for the Fitkin organization, according to announcement made by A. E. Fitkin. The Coast Counties Gas is a subsidiary of the Pacific Public Service Company recently formed by Mr. Fitkin for his California holdings.

Mr. Fitkin returned to his activities in the Public Utility field the early part of this year after having disposed of large holdings aggregating almost a quarter of a billion dollars and up to the present time has confined such activities to the California territory. The Coast Counties Gas & Electric Company operates in five counties in California and serves over 50 communities with electric light and gas.

EXPORTS HIT BEST FIGURE SINCE 1921

By FRANK H. MELOON
Financial Editor

United States exports of merchandise in October, the last month for which full figures have just become available, show the highest monthly figure since January, 1921.

(Photo by Marceau)

R. D. ZUCKER

Of course, New England is a major factor in the total. October exports were 31.6 per cent larger than in the previous month. For the first 10 months of 1928 the total is $4,114,000,000 against $3,997,000,000 in the like period.

• • •

In these days of statutory prohibition it will strike many as odd that rum can be had as moistener for cigars, cigarettes and tobacco. Rumidor Corporation, of which R. R. Zucker is president, is thriving because of this possibility, I am told. It was only a few months ago that a chemist discovered and produced the "Rumidor" invention for moistening tobacco. He made it from rum, solidified by a patent process under permit of the Bureau of Prohibition. The solidified mixture evaporates like liquid rum, permeates the pores of the tobacco, freshens and moistens it after the well known humidor fashion, bringing out natural flavor.

Merchandising of the product itself resulted in initial failure. The owners of the patent thereupon made an intensive study and tried it out in connection with humidors, re-named "Rumidors," with the success at present attained. Advertising, of course, played its due and infallible part in connection with this success. Hardly anything, you know, succeeds now without advertising.

Directors of Rumidor Corporation have just declared an initial quarterly dividend of 62½ cents on the common stock of the corporation, payable Jan. 15 to stockholders of record Dec. 15. The directors have placed the common stock on an annual dividend basis of $2.50 per share.

President Zucker expresses satisfaction with the corporation's progress since the start of operations May 1. Beginning with one plant, the corporation has expanded until it now has three in operation. Business during October, 1928, showed an increase of over 200 per cent over September and 700 per cent over May.

Slack Corporation, Springfield, Vt., have been elected to succeed themselves as Class A and Class B directors, respectively, for a three-year term, beginning January 1, 1929. The member banks which participated in this years' election were the banks in Group 2, that group being composed of member banks having a combined capital and surplus of $300,000 to $999,000 inclusive.

E. M. Hamlin & Co. announces that Joseph Remick has become associated with their organization. Mr. Remick was formerly with Kidder, Peabody & Co., Harde Ellis & Co., Pillsbury, Remick & Co. and Lovell & Co.

Vice-President C. L. Bartlett of the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway confirms my idea that the Hampton River bridge, between Seabrook, N. H., and Hampton, N. H., half in each town, is the longest wooden highway bridge in the world. Cars of the Mass. Northeastern pass over this bridge. Those who paid tolls over this bridge during the summer are usually surprised when they find no toll collectors present at this season.

Charter of the bridge, Vice-President Bartlett tells me, "provides that at certain periods of the year it must be open to the public, which accounts for the collection of toll for only five months of the year." We wonder if there is any other toll bridge where tolls are collected only during a part of the year? The initial cost of this bridge appears to have been lost in the mazes of about 20 years of "antiquity."

Wall Street Gossip

RECORD-SIZED January disbursements will run over a billion.

BALDWIN-WESTINGHOUSE merger plan has been dropped, which gives the Street another chance to resume merger rumors.

NEW York Central's recent strength is said to be due to pending decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission involving that road and the Big Four.

ANTWERP municipal council approved loan of $10,000,000 5 per cent bonds with National City Bank.

ATLANTIC Refining has reduced service station price of gasoline 1 cent to 17 cents in Pennsylvania and Delaware.

GRIGSBY-GRUNOW Co. declared initial quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the new stock, placing issue on a $3 annual basis, and extra dividend of 25 cents, both payable January 2.

BROKERS' loans total November 30 was $6,391,644,264, a new high, and increase of $511,923,202 over October 31.

National Shawmut

Comptroller of the currency has authorized the National Shawmut Bank of Boston to establish a branch in the vicinity of the corner of Canal and Causeway sts. in Boston.

RAIL RATES TO AID TEXTILES ARE URGED

Further consideration by the railroads of rates applying to cotton and rayon mixtures as a means of assisting the New England textile industry is urged by the Textile Traffic Conference in a letter sent to the New England Freight Association.

In its communication the conference expresses thanks for the endeavor that the association has made to aid the industry, but asks a "further study of the situation, in order that the industry may receive the necessary relief therefrom, and thus preserve to the member lines represented by your association this highly important traffic."

New rates on cotton and rayon mixtures from all New England mill points to New York city were recently announced by the railroads to become effective this month, and the textile representatives declare they are still too high.

The new rates, which represent a reduction on those at present in effect, are, nevertheless, in most cases 35 per cent higher than on straight cotton goods, and from Southern New England the percentage is much greater, according to the conference.

The present rate on cotton goods from New Bedford, Fall River and Providence to New York is 24 cents per 100 pounds, while the new rate on cotton and rayon mixtures will be 45 cents, or 87½ per cent higher than the cotton goods rate.

The Textile Traffic Conference, which is composed of traffic men identified wth the manufacturers, finishers and converters of the cotton textile industry of New England, explains in a statement issued today that the theory that rates are based on value does not work out in this case.

The addition of a comparatively small amount of rayon, it declares, does not enhance the value of the fabric to any great extent, the rayon being added in small quantities for decorative purposes to meet the current demand of buyers. Some of the mixed fabrics, it was pointed out, are sold by the manufacturers as low as 14 cents a yard.

State Street Notes

SIDNEY Blumenthal & Co., Inc., has negotiated agreement with committee representing bondholders of Salt's Textile Manufacturing Co. for acquisition by a subsidiary of Sidney Blumenthal of Salt's textile plant at Bridgeport.

REPORT says B. F. Goodrich Co. will invest between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 at Thomaston, Ga., taking over mill owned by Hightower interests.

CHARLES HAYDEN chairman of International Nickel Co. of New Jersey, states plan for exchange of stock of New Jersey Co. for stock of International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd., has been declared operative.

DUNHILL stockholders may subscribe to new shares at $50 in ratio of four for 10 held.

SIDNEY Blumenthal & Co.'s new subsidiary will probably be known at Saltex Looms, Inc.

THOMAS E. MURRAY

MURRAY QUITS POST IN N. Y. EDISON

At a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Edison Co. Thomas E. Murray tendered his resignation as vice-chairman of the board. Until the recent merger of the Brooklyn and New York Edison companies he was senior vice-president and general manager of the New York Edison Co.

Mr. Murray had expressed a desire for some time to be relieved of his duties as soon as the new regime was well under way, to allow him to complete more readily his ideas in steam generation and electrical distribution, which so recently revolutionized the power industry.

Mr. Murray started work at the age of 14 as a machinist's assistant under the late Anthony N. Brady, and at 30 merged the electric companies in and around Albany, N. Y.

Soon thereafter Mr. Brady and Mr. Murray went to New York to take over the then existing electrical properties, the outcome of which was the New York Edison Co. Mr. Murray became senior vice-president and general manager of this company, which position he held for 38 years, during which time the company developed into the largest utility in the world.

The American Museum of Safety granted Mr. Murray its medal of honor for devices invented to save life in the electrical industry. The Franklin Institute of Philadelphia granted him the Longstreth medal for his inventions in the electrical field.

Mr. Murray has been honored by many universities, receiving degrees of L. D. D. and Doctor of Science, although he worked to support himself from his youth.

He has written several volumes on power plant construction which are used as text books in most of the universities.

AUTO OUTPUT 75 P. C. OVER YEAR AGO

Production for the month of November will be well below that of October, according to B. H. Cram, president of Cram's Automotive Reports, Inc., industry authority. On the other hand, production is expected to run approximately 75 per cent higher than that of November, 1927, when a total of 134,411 cars and trucks were turned out.

A conservative estimate places November, 1928, output at 225,000 units combined for both lines. No particular changes are reflected in the retail sales situation. Volume of business is reported as holding between fair and good, considering the season of the year, which is generally marked as a slack period.

It is the belief that during the month of December ordering may be fairly heavy, but actual deliveries will continue to decline until after January first.

The truck situation is practically the same as that which exists in the passenger car field. Output for the current week was reduced, but the November total will be well over that of the same time a year ago, thus adding considerably to the accumulated year's total and bringing this up to a figure comparable with that of last year. Sales continue fair, with some improvement noted in the bus manufacturing division.

Export sales are holding up well and account for a substantial portion of the business now being done. It is expected that truck sales during the month of December will not fall off in as great a proportion as passenger car sales, due to the excellent foreign market which is being comparatively well maintained.

Money Menaces Speculation Activity in Business Gains

By B. C. FORBES

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—At last the market has demonstrated that stocks can fall as abruptly as they can rise. Once again, however, the powerful bulls recovered much of the lost ground.

B. C. Forbes

The experience should prove a warning. But it is doubtful if it will. Wall Street notoriously flies to extremes. And in this instance Wall Street has been joined by outsiders in numbers never before known.

The sensational collapse of the Canadian Marconi on the Curb market is a spectacle which may be duplicated in other directions. The boom in speculation has been used—misused—by unscrupulous gamblers to force more than one stock to ridiculous heights, totally unwarranted by past earnings or prospects. Indeed, the State authorities are understood to be investigating at least one case of the kind, also on the Curb market.

The writer looks for disturbing fluctuations in money rates this month. Various outside lenders of call money are likely to make rather heavy withdrawals before the year ends. The presidents of the nation's largest banks tell me they are in no position instantly to make good such withdrawals.

The Federal Reserve banks are in a weaker position today than they have been in seven years. The reserve ratio fell more than 3 per cent last week; in New York, almost 10 per cent. Brokers' loans, the Federal Reserve Bank reveals, expanded $132,768,000 last week. In two months the expansion has been $765,000,000, and the total, $5,289,900,000, is some $1,780,000,000 above that of a year ago. Meanwhile, Canada has taken $22,000,000 of gold and $25,000,000 has been "ear-marked" for foreign accounts.

Such facts would chill a stock market which had not given itself over wholly to unreasoning speculation. One prominent stock exchange house (J. S. Bache & Co.) aptly observes: "There is a game played at the beaches where a large-sized rubber ball is passed around excitedly, each player doing his utmost to get the ball out of his hands and into another's, because when the gong sounds the one holding the ball loses the game. This is something like the game being played by probably three-quarters of the public who are speculating in the market."

On only six full session days during November did transactions on the Stock Exchange fall below 5,000,000 shares; on six days they overran 6,000,000 shares. The word "conservatism" has been dropped out of Wall Street's vocabulary—for the hectic present. It will return.

Prosperity is the prevailing keynote in industry and business. November brought further improvement. Should the stock market not prove a disturbing factor, this improvement should continue during December. The 1928 results of many companies, especially the largest ones, will make a very satisfactory showing.

This table summarizes the degree of activity in the main industrial groups; the average productive activity during 1923-1925 is here used as par, or 100.

BUILDING COST AT HIGHEST IN MONTHS

Construction costs have risen to the highest plane they have occupied at any time during the past 30 months, according to statistics just compiled by the Associated General Contractors of America. October was the third successive month to witness a rise in the cost average. The record for the elapsed portion of 1928 shows but one decline. Four rises are indicated as having taken place since January.

The first increase during this year occurred last June, breaking a succession of decreases that had been registered at regular intervals since mid-summer of 1927.

The average of construction costs now is slightly more than double the average recorded in 1913. The average for the first ten months of 1928 is slightly below the figure registered for the corresponding period of last year, a low-cost era during the opening months of the current year having served to offset the effect which recent rises have had upon the ten-month average.

The increase noted in October is attributed to higher prices commanded by basic construction materals during that month, the third in succession to witness an increase.

The wage situation continued to give every indication of a stabilized condition, presenting an average showing no change from that held by the preceding month. Only two changes in the wage average have occurred this year, a slight decrease taking place in June and a counterbalancing increase asserting itself in September.

A scale which places the average of combined construction costs for 1913 at 100 as its basis shows the following index numbers for the months of this year: January, 199; February, 199; March, 197; April, 197; May, 197; June, 198; July, 198; August, 200; September, 201, and October, 202.

Some Women Make Fools of Men

More Women Make Men of Fools

THE first half is NOT true. Women do NOT make fools of men. The men MAKE FOOLS OF THEMSELVES.

But women do make MEN of FOOLS. They are doing that every day, and will continue to the crack of doom.

They take poor masculine material and build it up. They persuade inefficiency that it really can do things, and, lo and behold! it goes out and DOES them.

They encourage the drooping spirit, they listen with the patience of saints to tiresome self-praising stories.

They pretend, and actually SEEM to believe, when the husband explains that he is the smartest man in the office, or the factory, or the garage, or the hangar.

Sisyphus, pushing up the hill the big stone that always rolled back, was no more patient than any one of millions of women, pushing a dull husband up the hill of success. He rolls back pretty often, but in millions of cases the wife finally pushes him to the top and balances him there. And he never knows how it happened.

When women first discovered men, back in the cave days, the men were cannibals, hideous savages, covered with red hair, their protruding jaws fitted with big teeth, their foreheads half an inch high. They ate each other and each other's babies, especially the babies, easier to catch.

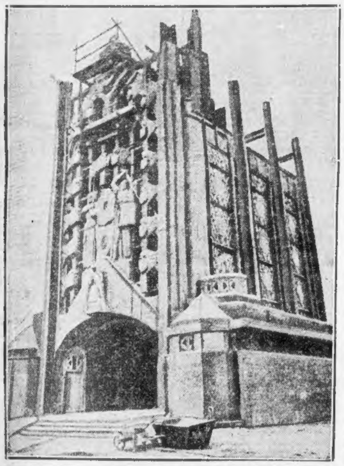
Women spent a million years changing cannibals and savages to the partially civilized men of today—not so VERY civilized, however.

Women have been changing failure into success, while the men have been making fools of themselves.

And if that is "FEMINISM" make the most of it.

New in Architecture

A Church of Carved Cement



NEW CHURCH, NEW ARCHITECTURE, NEW THOUGHT

This interesting church, elaborately ornamented with carvings, erected to commemorate the friendship of Belgium and France, stands in a small town near Paris, Elizabethville.

Architects, builders and big corporations that control the cement industry of this country, will all be interested in this new idea, opening up fresh possibilities of architecture.

The front of the church is covered with statues, carved in soft cement, twelve hours after it was poured.

The sculptor, Sarrabezollos, worked rapidly and brilliantly, controlling the pouring of the cement so as to have it always at the right degree of softness for his work.

Hardened and reinforced, this strange church with a new idea, will stand indefinitely, and its plan offers to architects new possibilities.

The sculptor, if you ask him to do so, will build for some enterprising American preacher, a church representing one single figure of St. Peter, or of the Divinity Itself.

An elevator could take worshippers to a chapel in the head of the giant statue, the lower parts of the body well lighted with windows being devoted to offices or other remunerative purposes.

Everything is changing, including architecture, and its possibilities are unlimited.

George Fox Wouldn't

Hoover DID

At a Quaker meeting, Paul Williams, important in the Society of Friends, criticized Mr. Hoover, also a Quaker, saying: "Would George Fox accept the presidency of the United States, with its attendant title of Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy?"

Probably not. Fox certainly couldn't have got it. The Quakers are an admirable body, and George Fox, with his great courage, was a fine man. But Quakers have died out, and that is the best answer to pacifist criticism of Herbert Hoover. He believes in fighting for what belongs to you, and has gone ahead. What counts is SUCCESS.

New York Day by Day

New York Day by Day

by O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4—Not every small town girl, casting her lot in the theatrical and cabaret world of Broadway, scoots to hell in a handbasket. There are many detours along the primrose path and they are frequently taken by those who see pitfalls ahead.

Broadway places a premium on beauty. But a higher premium on purity. Ruby Keeler, for instance, fresh with girlish loveliness, came out of Nova Scotia to tap dance in what was perhaps the most notorious of the night clubs—one eventually closed by constant padlockings.

Even the White Way was impressed with her obvious detachment from her sordid surroundings. She was one of "those little girls" jaded night birds were asked nightly "to give a great big hand." Her talent won her feature honors in first rate musical and vaudeville shows and on the screen.

She was affianced to a talented artist of the comic strips, Jack Callahan, before her affliction, and today they are happily married, their rare devotion being one of the legends of Broadway. And there is, of course, the romance of Irving Berlin.

He came up to the Bingo-bango land of Tin Pan Alley from a sawdust dive in Chinatown where he was a singing waiter. Yet he lived cleanly and decently. His gentlemanly shyness and talent led indirectly to his marriage to one of America's most beautiful heiresses. Such instances are numerous.

All of which is convincing enough that the young men and women of Broadway who behave themselves and are not beguiled by its sham pleasure need not fear being defiled by the pitch. Broadway itself may have no code of morals, but it bends a respectful knee to those who have.

NOEL COWARD seems the most engaging actor England has sent to America. Not yet 30, he is London's fair-haired boy and is likely to duplicate his popularity on Broadway. He is now clicking in a hit revue for which he wrote the book, lyrics and music. He scored several years ago as a straight dramatic star in a play of his own. In his revue he displays his versatility in singing, dancing and comedy roles. And until a better one is suggested I shall continue to regard "This Year of Grace" the best-named of all revues.

MR. COWARD is no Adonis. He has large translucent ears that would shame the eminent Will Hays, but like Mr. Hays overwhelms with sheer personality. Mr. Coward captures his audiences despite co-starring with the ubiquitous Beatrice Lillie, which statement will not add one cubit to my stature with the intellentzia or the critics who hailed her with a huzzah. There is a near-society crowd which goes into an ecstasy of frenzy over Miss Lillie because she is Lady something or other. On opening night they organized into such an annoying claque with their plaudits they had to be hissed down.

MISS LILLIE was amusing in her early appearance in Charlot's Revue, imported from London several years ago. But to me she has grown rather tiresome with her worn-out trick of missing a step and singing off key. But it is with these obvious and moth-eaten gestures she brings her fervid followers to heel. Certainly no actress has ever received a more rousing first night accolade. Oh, yes, in English revues the "Intermission" is the "Interval." Isn't that topping, no end?

A GENTLEMAN'S clothing parlor on the avenue has dispensed with male mannikins. They embarrassed prospective patrons with their collar ad. profiles and studied clothes consciousness. Men who bought suits expecting to look like them took their purchases home, tried them on and looked in the glass. Write your own ending.

THE most brilliant, at least socially, of the theatrical first nights since the Follies ceased to function is "a Gershwin show"—that is, one with music by George Gerswin.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

A LETTER signed Disillusioned lies on my desk.

Four years ago the girl who wrote it was a radiant young dreamer. She lived with her family in a small country town and life was gentle and merry and reasonable. Everything went as everything should go—as mother and father and the old minister and her school teachers had told her everything would go. Then, quite suddenly, she was thrown out of that peaceful setting and forced to earn her living in a big city.

For four years she has faced life as it really is and the sight has numbed and embittered her. None of the old rules to which she pinned her faith have worked. On every side she sees the wicked flourishing and the righteous being forced to the wall. Often, I suspect, she has tried to ask God about it as she used to ask Him about things back in that little country town. But there seems to be no God above the hard city roofs, and she is quite desperate.

"Life isn't worth living," she cries, in the simple tragic words which sad souls have used so often.

Joseph Wood Krutch wrote an answer to that wail in his article, "The Tragic Fallacy," in the November Atlantic Monthly.

"Perhaps," says he, "it would be pleasanter if men could believe what the child is taught—that the good are happy and that things turn out as they should—but it is far more important to believe, as Shakespeare did, that however much things in the outward world may go awry, man has, nevertheless, splendors of his own, and that, in short, Love and Honor and Glory are not words but realities."

Those are great words. They should bring healing and fresh strength to many a hurt heart.

Do not test life by the disorder which you see about you. It is not possible for a world in which there is so much growth and conflict to be orderly. The old, beautiful promises and plans rarely work in such confusion. But that does not prove that they are false. They may not work in the world, but they work nevertheless. They work in the hearts of men.

"Love and honor and glory" do exist, even though they may seem lost to our impatient sight. They exist where they started—in the human spirit. We are not yet strong or wise enough to transmit our dreams into action—but the dreams are there, nevertheless, and they are more real than all our blundering.

I cannot explain why the dreams are there. I do not know why man, this higher ape, should hold a dream beneath his sickly, hairy hide. I cannot explain it biologically or psychologically. I only know the dream is there and that its loveliness endures even in the most shameful lives.

Do not search through the muck heaps for food for your faith. Rather stoop low and enter the secret door that opens into the human heart. There you will find that which will feed your soul.

Exit Sir Walter

by Herbert Kaufman

Your children won't read the Victorian novels. Which is by no means an accusatory statement.

Those involved, discursive romances belonged to a far more deliberate and patient generation.

Bulwer and Beaconsfield served a period of limited diversion, stupid dailies and stuffy periodicals.

The long evenings of their times were not broken by radio and phonograph; theatres were few and inaccessible; dancing "an invention of the devil;" the cribbage and checker board high spots of excitement.

Average family experience was limited to local backgrounds and fenced in by neighborhood horizons.

Multitudes lived and died in cubbyhole towns with no personal knowledge of great cities, much less of foreign lands or wilderness.

Therefore, the novelist, to capture his audience, generally set his characters on historical and exotic stages and socked his narrative full of scenic and descriptive non-essentials.

It was an era of debating societies—conversation was the principal stock-in-trade of entertainment.

News was scarce and the dullest literary ramblings were painstakingly digested and regurgitated in full detail.

But we of the twentieth century are served by so many distractive and informative agencies that such gabble is intolerable.

Screen, camera, illustrated magazines and common schooling have made the whole earth familiar territory.

We resent any fiction method that tiringly detours from the direct path of the plot.

Consequently Scott is seldom read. And that's why we're indifferent to Disraeli, ennuied by the Brontes and find ourselves yawning among the pages of Ainsworth and the most of Thackeray.

Of all the Crinoline School, Dickens alone stands unshrunken in his niche. And even his reputation would be safer, if his worst books were fewer.

"V" VERSES by Herbert Kaufman
Vim Vigor Victory

You compromised. You wouldn't go
The limit when you had a show.
You chaffered over-long with Fate
And sold tomorrow at a rate.
Who knows how high you might have gone
Had you fought on.
Now, as life wanes,
Compare your gains;
Measure your pittance for your pains;
Count the few pence that the years have won;
And then resolve to make one try
Full-heartedly before you die.
Your last chance has not yet gone by.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

He who would be wise, must daily earn his wisdom. —Jordan.

Prosperity can change man's nature and seldom is any one cautious enough to resist the effects of good fortune.—Rufus.

We must make allowances for a mind which has received a grevious wound.—Ovid.

Boston American's Policies For Boston-New England

FOR BOSTON:

1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, in order that Boston properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

FOR NEW ENGLAND:

1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.
3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.
